Council Predicts $113,000 Deficit Because of Hospital

FLOOD AFTERMATH. The main street of hapless Winsted, Conn., near Hartford, is completely torn to a depth of eight feet by the angry flood waters of the Mad River. Two shopkeepers work their way up the street through the mass of rubble.

Freight Train, Bus Collide; 10 Children Killed

Accident in Tennessee Hurts 30 Other Pupils; Patrol Arrests Driver

SPRING CITY, Tenn. (AP) — A long freight train, its diesel horn blasting, rammed into a loaded grammar school bus here Monday, killing 10 youngsters and injuring 30 others and the bus driver.

The yellow-painted bus was midway across the downtown grade crossing when the 100-car train smacked into it at an estimated speed of 45 miles an hour.

Bystanders, some with children aboard the bus, stood horrified as the little bodies were flung along the tracks.

The children, all white and ranging in age from 6 to 12, had just begun the second week of school. All were killed or injured.

At Least 5 Serious

At least 5 of the 21 hospitalized overnight were in serious condition. Nine others and the bus driver, Raymond Moore, 39, were treated and released.

All the victims were thought to have lived in the Back Valley community just northwest of Spring City, a town of less than 2,000 residents between Knoxville and Chattanooga.

Moore, who started driving a school bus only last week, said he stopped at the crossing but his view was blocked by four parked cars.

"When I started across the tracks I saw it (the train) and heard the engineer blowing his whistle," he said. "I prayed I would make it but I knew I was too late."

Schools Open Early

Moore was charged with manslaughter and released on bond at nearby Dayton.

Paul Gilles, engineer of the Southern Railway train, also was charged with manslaughter, highway patrolmen said. Hearing for both men was set for Aug. 30.

Walter Boles, 10, one of the less seriously injured pupils, said:

"I remember turning a couple of flips in the bus but that's about all. I don't remember hearing the train whistle blow. It was over so quick I just don't know how it happened."

Gene Crisp, a television repairman, said he reached the tragic scene seconds after the crash.

May Call Congress Back Into Session If Necessary

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — President Eisenhower flew in here today to view flood damage in the six Northeastern states and asserted "if necessary I will call a special session of Congress to appropriate money needed" to restore normalcy.

After an aerial inspection tour of parts of the devastated region and a meeting here with the governors of six afflicted states, the President said in a broadcast:

"In my opinion everybody within the sound of my voice will sleep better tonight if he turns in everything that he can spare to meet this great disaster that has happened to our fellow Americans."

Then he added:

"I hope you will do it instantly so that by tomorrow night Mr. Roland Harriman here, the president of the Red Cross, will know that he doesn't have to be meager or stingy in the allocations he makes to these areas."

Harriman joined in the dramatic presidential plea, and pointed out that the federal and state governments are restricted by law as to the amount of aid which can be provided in such situations.

Eisenhower made his statement immediately after an hour-long

Red Cross Asks Help of County In Flood Areas

Marion Countians are being asked to contribute $2,500 as their share of the American Red Cross Flood Relief Fund being earmarked for use in providing emergency relief in the disaster-stricken Eastern states.

Lowell Douce, chairman of the local chapter's disaster committee, announced the local goal was set during an emergency meeting of the chapter's executive committee late Monday afternoon.

The emergency meeting was called after Louis B. Conkle, chairman of the Marion County chapter of the Red Cross, received an appeal for aid from E. Roland Harriman, national chairman of the Red Cross.

Harriman reported that the Red Cross had sent 260 trained disaster workers into the six-state flood

40,000 Union Workers Start Chicago Strike

Harvester Co. Plants Are Picketed as Firm, UAW Fail To Agree

CHICAGO (AP)—CIO United Auto Worker picket lines were set up at 18 International Harvester Co. plants in six states today as 40,000 workers struck in a dispute over a new contract.

Despite the strike, union and company negotiators stayed in session until 2:15 a.m. They recessed until 1 p.m. today.

Wildcat walkouts started Friday and spread to nearly all Harvester plants by the midnight deadline last night. Union leaders called the premature strikes "unauthorized."

William J. Reilly, Harvester's manager of labor relations, said, "The union's position on many subjects makes an agreement impossible

Leonard Woodcock, UAW international vice president, said the company and union were far apart on a number of issues. None of the issues "are beyond settlement if management is willing to apply itself as is the union," he said.

Earlier, the union rejected a 26-week layoff pay plan, and an immediate 10-cent hourly wage increase including a 6-cent annual improvement factor. The company estimates its present hourly wage at $2.07½.

The union is demanding, among other items, the adoption of a union shop and the elimination of pay differentials between Northern and Southern workers.

Four plants in the Chicago area are affected by the strike. Other plants are at Rock Island, Canton, Rock Falls and East Moline in Illinois; Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Richmond and Evansville in Indiana; Stockton and Emoryville in California; East Springfield and Springfield, Ohio; Memphis Tenn., and Louisville, Ky.

British Fliers Span Atlantic Twice in Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Two British airmen, trying for a round trip across the Atlantic in one day, landed on Floyd Bennett Field in a jet plane today 7 hours and 31 minutes after they took off from London's airport.

After a quick—and early—lunch, they left at 9:23 a.m. EST and hoped to reach their starting point in time for a leisurely—slightly late—dinner.

Their westward crossing time was almost on the nose with their expectations. They had aimed to make it in seven and a half hours, with tail winds cutting their return time by an hour.

The fliers, Pilot John Hackett and Navigator Peter M. Penny, were flying a photo reconnaissance version of the royal air force's Canberra jet bomber.

North Korean Reds Release U.S. Airman

'Treated Fairly Well,' Lt. Guy Bumpas Says In Interview at Border

KUMHWA, Korea (AP)—The Communists today freed an American Air Force flier and handed over the body of an Army captain in a weird ceremony in the middle of the Korean neutral zone.

The two were shot down by Red gunners a week ago.

"I was treated fairly well," said the survivor, 2nd Lt. Guy H. Bumpas of Jackson, Miss., in a strange, last - minute question - and - answer session with a Communist officer.

Airman's Body Returned

The Communists also handed the body of Army Capt. Charles W. Brown of West Louisville, Ky., Bumpas' observer - passenger on the Aug. 17 flight that has set off one of the angriest exchanges since the armistice.

The Reds say the light, unarmed training plane was spying. The United Nations command charges "trigger - happy" gunners fired on it when it was lost.

A bandage covered Bumpas' right eye and the right side of his forehead as he crossed a small bridge to the Allied side of the Korean truce line.

The Air Force flier was escorted to the bridge by a North Korean lieutenant colonel whose name was not learned. Before he crossed it, the Communist officer told waiting authorities he wanted to ask Bumpas some questions.

Limits Questions

"Please limit your questions," said Lt. Col. Harold A. Dye, Atlanta, Ga., who later signed a receipt acknowledging return of Bumpas and Brown's body.

"Can you tell me about your treatment in North Korea?" the Red officer asked.

Bumpas replied quickly: "It was all right. It was okay. The treatment — considering the circumstances — was all right. I was treated fairly well." He spoke in a voice audible to some 25 Allied officers, correspondents and cameramen standing on the other side of the armistice line.

The Communist asked: "Lieutenant, please confirm that you have all your personal belongings."

Bumpas, who carried his personal effects in a small wrapped package, acknowledged he had them.

Additional Questions Asked

Then Bumpas was asked:

"What do you think of our medical treatment?"

He replied: "As far as I know—I'm no doctor—I seem to be getting along all right." The Allies have reported he has suffered a concussion.

Finally, the Communist lieutenant colonel asked, "Do you want to say anything else?"

Bumpas, one step from freedom, said nervously, waving his hand toward the Allied side: "I'm through. I'm ready to go back."

After Dye signed a receipt for Bumpas, the Communist officer declared:

"Our side is hoping your wound gets well."

1956 Budget Approved for Running City

$1,795,113 Expenses Represent Decrease; Revenue Also Slashed

A city budget anticipating an operating loss of some $113,000 during 1956 was presented to and approved by Marion City Council at its meeting Monday night at City Hall.

Estimated income of the city from all sources next year will be $1,681,763 while expenditures will be some $1,795,113, according to the budget.

Don Quaintance, Fifth Ward, chairman of the finance committee, explained that the large loss estimate is because of an anticipated loss of $118,000 in the operation of Marion General Hospital next year.

Main Burden

He further explained that actual expenditures from the city general fund will be some $4,600 less than income to the fund. This means that without the burden of the expected loss at General Hospital the city itself could operate well in the black next year with little reduction in services, he said.

City Auditor Elmer Shaw pointed out that the budget is purely an estimate of the city's operation and is not actually an appropriation.

He further explained that when the appropriation ordinances are written they may not appropriate more for expenses than the city will have in income.

Await Approval

If the Marion County Budget Commission certifies the city income to be the same as listed on the budget, it will be necessary to reduce some costs to bring the expenses in line with the income, Shaw said.

Compared with both actual and estimated costs and revenues for this year, both figures for next year represent reductions with the greatest being on the revenue side of the ledger.

Actual income for the first six months of this year and estimated income for the last six months is expected to total $1,734,083 or some $52,320 higher than the estimate for next year.

Estimated expenses for next year are listed on the budget at about $200 less than the $1,795,318 actual and estimated costs for this year.

Explain Budget

In presenting the budget to Council, Quaintance read a prepared statement explaining the purpose of the budget and why an operating loss is anticipated.

Emphasizing that the budget is but an estimate of revenues and expenditures for the coming year, he noted that it is based on six months actual revenue and expenditures and six months estimated revenue and expenditures. These estimates are made in July and in the ensuing six months, many factors may change the picture, he indicated.

"It is with a great deal of pride that the finance committee

Ten Dead in Crash Of 'Flying Boxcar'

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A C119 Flying Boxcar crashed and exploded in a Negro residential area near the Charleston Air Force base today. Unconfirmed reports said 11 were killed, including several civilians.

The plane, on a night flight, apparently hit a tree in the densely populated Liberty Park community and struck three homes. Flaming debris was hurled over a wide area. Fire made exploration of the wreckage immediately impossible.

With Another Plane

The C119 was attached to the 456th troop carrier wing of the 18th Air Force. It had taken off with another military transport ship. A North Charleston fireman said he heard both planes and saw two tremendous flashes of fire from the one that crashed about 2 a.m. (EST).

The fireman, whose unit was the first to reach the site, said "there was fire everywhere. A man who had been sitting on the road eating a watermelon said he saw the plane coming in and one engine was on fire."

3 Houses Burn

A propeller flew 100 yards, through the window of a fourth house, injuring a sleeping man and his wife. An elevator from the big plane's tail was left dangling in the hickory tree that took the first impact of the crash.

Only the three houses actually hit by parts of the plane burned. Chemicals and water, sprayed quickly on the plane and nearby houses, probably saved many lives.

The surviving crew members and several civilians were hospitalized in Charleston.

Maj. Gen. Chester E. McCarthy, commander of the 18th Air Force flew from Donaldson AFB near Greenville, S. C., to investigate the crash and "to see what can be done to alleviate the distress of the civilians" affected.

The crash site was just west of U. S. Highway 52, a main route into Charleston, and about 10 miles from the center of the city.

Government Takes Gas Firms in New Zealand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—Prime Minister Sydney Holland's conservative government is opposed to nationalization but today it announced it is taking over the island country's principal gas companies. Holland said the companies had asked for government ownership because they're losing money and might have to shut down.

Teaching Red Doctrine Given Lawyers Okay

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The American Bar Assn. was on record today in favor of teaching the theories of communism in the nation's schools providing Congress authorizes it.

It was a backhanded approach to a boiling hot issue that erupted into verbal fireworks at the ABA's convention last year before it was tabled for further working over at this week's 78th meeting.

Backs Flood Bill

The House of Delegates, the ABA's governing body for its 58,000 lawyer-members, by unanimous voice vote—and with no argument at all—adopted a resolution late Monday urging Congress to adopt a measure sponsored by Rep. Daniel Flood (D-Pa).

The Flood bill would set up an 11-member commission that would make available information and prepare suggested curricula of studies in the nation's schools "as to the basic differences between the theories and practices of the American way of life and theories and practices of atheistic communism."

Walter M. Bastian, chairman of the ABA's American Citizenship Committee, said that "at a time when Russia is smiling at us it is a good time to take a look at their system."

Presses for Action

Last year Bastian sought to have the ABA go flatly on record in favor of the teaching of communism in the schools, and he reiterated yesterday that "the committee has not abandoned its resolution."

However, no effort was made to bring it before the delegates for discussion—and it appeared to be dead, especially in view of Monday's action urging Congress to take the step first.

Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations, Monday night suggested that the nations of the world would have to give up a little of their sovereignty if they wish to achieve "liberty under law."

U.S., Red China Conduct Short Talks at Geneva

Discussion on Civilian Repatriation Unsettled After Brief Conference

GENEVA (AP)—The ambassadors of the United States and Communist China today held their shortest session to date — 27 minutes — in their negotiations on repatriation of civilians each charges the other with holding.

U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. ambassador to Prague, and Wang Ping-nan, Red China's envoy to Warsaw, started the fourth week of their negotiations here still without any sign of agreement. The next meeting will be held Thursday.

They began their talks Aug. 1 after Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai stated that it should not be difficult to settle the problem of 41 American civilians Peiping is holding in China.

The talks are believed to have bogged down on Red China's demand for the naming of a third power — probably India to determine the wishes of Chinese students in the United States concerning repatriation to Communist China.

The United States has rejected this proposal, contending that Chinese nationals in the United States are free to leave the country at any time.

Timken Schedules Bucyrus Expansion

A one and a half million dollar warehouse will be built by the Timken Roller Bearing Co. of Canton at its plant site at Bucyrus, the Associated Press reported today.

Timken announced the new structure would be built next year and that it would require an additional 150 employes.

The company also announced the sale of its original plant building at Bucyrus to the Gallon Iron Works and Manufacturing Co. but gave no price. The Gallon firm, which manufactures road-building equipment, acquires some 60,000 additional square feet of plant space and a boiler house by the purchase.

Launch Determined Offensive

French Armored Forces Attack Moroccan Rebels

CASABLANCA (AP) — Armored French columns under fighter plane cover struck today in overwhelming strength at the mountain strongholds of Moroccan tribesmen who launched an insurrection Saturday.

Heavy reinforcing columns set out Monday night from Rabat and Keknes to join the already strong French forces cutting off the Kasba Talda area east of Oued Zem.

Strength Not Revealed

French officials would not disclose the number of troops employed but said, "When you go into those mountains, you don't do it with 50 men."

Although the operation was characterized as a "punitive expedition," French officials said there would be no "repression," which in French military terminology means no mass executions.

The main targets of the expedition are the 4,000 Berber tribesmen, formerly friendly to the French, who rode out of the hills to raid Oued Zem, where about 80 Frenchmen were slaughtered and multilated.

Although no official figures for the still growing weekend death toll were available, French officials acknowledged privately that it might reach 1,000 in Morocco alone. In Algeria, hundreds more casualties were reported.

Tension Mounts

The tense atmosphere of Morocco was emphasized today when about 3,000 persons gathered before Casablanca's military memorial to pay tribute to the French dead.

Rain Cuts Crowd at Fair; Livestock Judging Begun

The 105th Marion County Fair went into its second half today following a Monday which was crowded with livestock judging and other events on the fairgrounds.

A heavy rain all morning hurt attendance yesterday and fair officials reported there were 2,100 paid admissions at the gate. The attendance Monday brought the total for the first three days of the fair to 8,800.

JUDGING WAS the center of attraction during the day Monday and continued into the evening with a special Holstein show in which all the Holsteins entered in the fair were judged separately.

Harness racing took the spotlight Monday night and left only tonight and Wednesday night for race fans to enjoy the sport.

Today's program will see the windup of livestock judging in the senior fair as swine and beef cattle enter the judging ring.

In the junior division today, demonstrations by boys and girls will be performed in an effort to pick winners to attend the Ohio State Fair at Columbus.

THERE WILL ALSO be a livestock judging contest in the afternoon and showmanship contests tonight.

Wednesday will be Junior Fair Day with the youngsters taking the spotlight for the entire day. All livestock entered by the youths will be judged during the day. At 7 p.m., the winning animals will be paraded through the Coliseum and will be followed by a special awards show.

15 Killed in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A fast electric express train carrying school children and commuters rammed into the rear of another train today at a fog-shrouded station on Buenos Aires' outskirts. First reports indicated a death toll of 15 to 18 and 45 to 55 injured.

4 Solutions Studied

City Income, Sewer Taxes Called Possible Answers

In the face of a possible operating loss of some $113,000 next year, Marion City Council Monday night discussed possible methods of increasing city revenue.

Finance Committee Chairman Don Quaintance said there are four methods by which the city could continue to operate in the black.

One of these is to live within the present income of the city by reduction of some services, if necessary.

The other three methods discussed included: 1. adoption of a sewer use tax, 2. an operating levy presented to the voters for approval, and 3. adoption of a city income tax.

Each of the three members of the finance committee presented reports on one of the three methods.

Quaintance noted that on several occasions the finance committee had been asked to investigate possible methods of increasing city income.

This is a serious problem and needs much study, he said. Finance committee efforts so far have been cursory and its suggestions should not be construed as passing judgment on the merits of various proposals, he said.

Before any definite steps are taken, the finance committee feels the city should first make a careful study to determine exactly what additional funds are needed, he added.

Speaking on the income tax proposal, Quaintance said he had obtained information from four oth-

Happens at Houston, Tex.

India's Envoy Is Ejected From Swank Dining Hall

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Because a restaurant supervisor thought they were Negroes, India's ambassador to the United States and his secretary were asked to leave the public dining room of a swank eating place Monday.

Mrs. Mary Alley, the supervisor, was reported by a witness to have said she asked the pair to take service in a small private dining room. "The law's the law," she was quoted as saying.

If they had refused to move, the witness quoted Mrs. Alley as adding, "I would have had to have them moved."

The witness, Houston Public Relations Counsel Frank Gibler, said he was told by Mrs. Alley that she "thought they were Negroes."

Texas law forbids serving Negroes and white people in the same room. Houston's contract with the federal government, however, bans discrimination at the International Airport, where the incident occurred in the Horizon House Restaurant.

The Houston Post said today that at least six witnesses told of hearing Mrs. Alley ask the ambassador, Gaganvihari Lallubhai Mehta, and his secretary B. A. Rajagopalan to leave the dining room.

The ambassador and his secretary looked at each other, smiled and, without protest, followed Mrs. Alley into a smaller dining room back of the cashier's cage.

The two Indians were en route to Mexico City from Washington and had a 2½-hour layover here between planes. They were gone before Houston newsmen could reach them.

Mrs. Alley could not be reached for comment Monday night.

Wrong Prisoner Freed at Jail In Chicago in Mixup of Records

CHICAGO (AP)—A mixup of records of two prisoners named Fullilove brought the release of the wrong man Monday from Cook County Jail.

Andrew Fullilove, 35, who was awaiting trial on two charges of assault with intent to kill and one of robbery, was released when jail attendants mistook him for A. J. Fullilove.

A. J. Fullilove, 26, in jail on a charge of stealing a cow in Mississippi, was scheduled to appear in Criminal Court after an application for a writ of habeas corpus had been filed in his behalf.

Chief Justice Richard B. Austin granted a motion for the release of A. J. Fullilive, pending a hearing on the writ. Andrew Fullilove signed the $500 bond supplied by a professional bondsman and shortly after was released from custody.

The error was not discovered for about two hours. Police said Andrew Fullilove was a former convict and had been in jail since April 26. His bond had been set at $20,000.

A. J. Fullilove has been in jail since Thursday.

Judge Austin declined to comment on the mixup, except to describe it as "another of those things."

Meanwhile, A. J. Fullilove remained in jail while police searched for Andrew Fullilove.

Sheriff Joseph Lohman said "it seems on the face of it one of those extraordinary coincidences of names." He said he planned to question the guards involved.

Warden Irving J. Blazek, who described the substitution of prisoners an "unfortunate coincidence," said he had asked the state's attorney's office to tell him what to do about A. J. Fullilove. He said he was held in jail although a $500 bond had been proferred in his behalf.

The Fullilove men are not related.

Police Probe Killing

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Otis E. Fox, 39, of Dayton, is being held by police for investigation of homicide in the death of Dillard Earl Brewster, a 31-year-old neighbor. Brewster died yesterday of head injuries received Aug. 14. Police said Fox struck Brewster as they argued at Fox's home. Brewster fell, hitting his head on a post and concrete porch steps, they said.

Mitchell Feels Adlai Will Run, Offers Support

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, said Monday night he expects Adlai Stevenson to run for president in 1956 and that he will support his candidacy.

"I think he will be nominated and elected. From what I've seen he is definitely the first choice of Democrats around the country," said Mitchell in an interview.

Asked who he considers likely candidates if Stevenson does not run, Mitchell said that Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York are "mentioned most frequently."

Critics Report Hope Is Big Hit In Serious Role

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope, who needs a new career like Texas needs another oil well, suddenly finds a whole new vista of showbusiness opened to him.

For years, the movies have been one gag after another for Bob—and it's paid off handsomely both in fame and money. Then in "The Seven Little Foys," Hope, for the first time, shelved the gags for dramatic acting with laughs.

Now studios are approaching him with the type of roles once offered to a William Powell or a Cary Grant. Upcoming on the Hope slate are "That Certain Feeling," from the Broadway hit "King of Hearts." His co-star will be Marlon Brando's ex-leading lady—Eva Marie Saint.

Next will come the English "Not For Money", in which he will co-star with another fair country actress — Katharine Hepburn. Then "Beau James," Gene Fowler's life of the late Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York.

Will Hope pull a Crosby and go in for the heavy-handed dramatic a la "The Country Girl"

"Never," promises Bob. "I couldn't stand seeing myself get that serious and I don't think the public could either."

The Hope movie schedule alone could kill off an ordinary actor but Bob will also manage, before the season is over, to do eight hour-long television shows, make his usual dozen or more trips across the country or abroad, enter a score of charity golf tournaments and emcee at least 50 banquets and special shows.

Lots of people wonder how Hope can keep up that mad pace. Like anything else, it's easy when you have Bob's secret of knowing how to relax.

Bob can relax while apparently doing a half-dozen things at once. He's also one of those lucky people who can go to sleep the minute his head touches the pillow—or the back of an airliner seat.

About 5,000 Americans are drowned every year.

50th Wedding Marked

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Born

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Born are observing their golden wedding anniversary today in their home, 195 N. Seffner Ave. No celebration of the anniversary is planned.

The wedding of 50 years ago took place on Aug. 23, 1905, in Kenton. The ceremony was read by Rev. Hollington, pastor of the Methodist Church in his home on N. Main St. that city. Mrs. Born is the former Miss Florence E. Derr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Derr of Kenton and Mr. Born's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Born of Kenton. Traffic Cases In City Court

Thirteen drivers were fined a total of $405 and costs on various traffic violations when they appeared in Marion Municipal Court Monday.

Two of the drivers were fined $100 and costs each. Leonard R. Robinson, 21, of 656 Woodrow Ave. was fined $100 and costs and was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail on a charge of operating under revocation. Also fined $100 and costs was Floyd George, 30, of 860 Hocking St. on charges of having no operator's license and reckless operation. He also was sentenced to five days in the county jail and given a three years' suspension of his driving rights.

Another driver forfeited a $35 bond. He was Guy Remington Graves, 44, of near McArthur, O., who was arrested on a cable chain violation.

Assessed fines of $25 and costs each were George Eugene Reeder, 23, of near Cardington, on a speeding charge, and Robert J. Dorsey, 29, of 1015 N. Main St., on a charge of speeding.

Eight other drivers were fined $15 and costs each on various charges. The drivers and charges were: Cleave Ransaw, 33, of Detroit, Mich., yellow line violation; Robert David Yake, 23, of near Waldo, speeding; Edward Allen Pollard, 22, of Cardington, failure to register a motor vehicle; James Vick, 31, of Columbus, speeding; Ray William Huvler, 27, of near Lexington, O., cable chain violation; Nicholas Daniel Haubert, 22, of 685 Meadow St., failure to register a motor vehicle; Harold Raymond Mitchell, 35, of near Prospect, no turn signals, and Carl Frederick Klein, 41, of Upper Sandusky, unsafe operation.

Another fine of $15 and costs against Carroll Eugene Bird, 19, of 585 E. Center St. on a speeding charge was suspended.

New Hillsboro Dispute Is Seen On Integration

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The board of education today faced the problem of continued absenteeism of a score of Negro students unless the use of an all-Negro school is abandoned.

One Negro mother told the board her children would not attend classes in September unless the school rooms are racially integrated. She said she knew of 20 to 30 other children who would be kept home in protest of what the parents considered racial segregation.

Thirty-three Negro students did not attend school last year. Only 20 received instruction at the all-Negro Lincoln building. Another 11 were enrolled in the city's two other elmentary schools, previously all-white institutions.

The school board has maintained that its schools are not segrated. Junior and senior high school classes have members of both races in them. The school board claims Lincoln is an all-Negro school because of residential patterns and not because of racial restrictions. Abandonment of Lincoln would cause overcrowding, says School Board President John H. Brown.

The Negro parents, backed by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, brought suit in U. S. district court last year to stop the zoning practice and to permit the enrollment in what had been all-white primary schools. The court denied the petition.

New buildings at the Webster and Washington elementary buildings are being constructed from a $675,000 bond issue approved by the voters in 1953. Webster pupils will be housed in the new building in September but the Washington school will not be completed until next year. In the meantime, Washington pupils will go to the old Webster building and the Lincoln students will stay at Lincoln. The board said overcrowding would result if the Lincoln school was not used. However, the board has promised complete integration once the building program is completed.

It's in a Book

By George Sokolsky

Miss Jean Muir, the actress who tried to clear herself of criticism by appearing before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, made this statement:

SOKOLSKY

"When the Spanish Republic was elected and then Franco attempted to overthrow it, it seemed to me to be an abrogation of the rights of free people to vote for the head of a government which they wanted. Of course, after the Communists took over the Loyalist party, I became less and less involved in it. The one thing I can remember doing definitely was at an auction at which I auctioned off a picture. . . Because of the confusion about the picture business previously discussed, and the Artists' Front to Win the War, it is possible this really was the organization at which the picture was made with Rockwell Kent."

-:-

NOW, I NEVER got excited about Miss Muir, not knowing her and never having seen or heard her. But I would like to know when "The Spanish Republic was elected;" what kind of an election was it? Such matters can be looked up in a book. Miss Muir got all excited about the Spanish Republic but what about Finland or Poland or South Korea? Why would one become more excited about the Spanish Republic than about any other?

So let's look at the facts:

On April 14, 1931, King Alfonso of Spain left his country and throne, without abdicating and Alcala Zamora set up a government with himself as president. There was no election. However, on June 28, there was an election and the Republican-Socialist coalition won by a huge majority. A new constitution was adopted, after the election, providing among other things for universal sufferage. On Dec. 10, Zamora was elected president under the terms of the new constitution.

ON AUG. 10, 1932, a conservative revolt led by Gen. Jose Sanjurjo occurred and was suppressed. On Sept. 25, Catalonia became autonomous. On Jan. 8, 1933, the Syndicalists and Anarchists of Barcelona revolted which indicated that the lower classes were as dissatisfied as the upper classes. On Nov. 19, 1933, an election was held which gave the Right parties 44 per cent and the Left parties only 21 per cent. Coalition ministries, following this election, could not stand. On Oct. 4, 1934, the Catholic "Popular Action party" joined the cabinet of Premier Alejandro Lerroux. The next day, the Left parties called a general strike.

On Feb. 16, 1936, new elections were held and a Popular Front of Republicans, Socialists, Syndicalists and Communists won a decisive victory. Manuel Azana formed a cabinet; decided without legality to remove President Zamora, which was done on April 10, 1936.

On July 18, the Spanish Civil War broke out when the Army chiefs in Spanish Morocco rebelled. This revolt, led by Gen. Francisco Franco and Gen. Emilio Mola, spread throughout the country.

ITALIAN AND GERMAN "volunteers" joined the insurgents; Russia supplied the Communist-controlled government. On Oct. 1, 1936, Gen. Franco assumed the position of chief of the Spanish State. The Civil War ended on March 28, 1939, with Franco in control of the country.

I am not trying to show off my knowledge. I looked this up in "An Encyclopedia Of World History," compiled by Prof. William L. Langer of Harvard, which Miss Muir could do as well if she took the pains. But I cannot see in all this why an American who was not a Communist or a Fascist could get all steamed up over it.

Miss Muir says that she worried about the "abrogation of the rights of free people to vote for the head of a government which they wanted." That happened in a great many countries and I never heard of Miss Muir getting excited about the manipulations in Czechoslovakia which resulted in the suicide or murder of Jan Masaryk.

THEN MISS MUIR said that "after the Communists took over the Loyalist party. I became less and less involved in it." I take it that Miss Muir was involved in the Loyalist party.

Why? Why should an American citizen be involved in a foreign party?

Furthermore, what would Miss Muir say if one told her that there was no Loyalist party in Spain? So, what was she involved in?

I think the counsel for the House Committee on Un-American Activities might have looked into a book and asked a few questions along these lines.

Tireless Reds

By Victor Riesel

ROME

I've now circled most of the earth and while you good folks back home have been talking of peace, I've found that the Communist International has been preparing for revolutionary war virtually everywhere.

VICTOR RIESEL

The only moments of peace came when I got into the Pan-American stratocruiser and a small part of the U.S. seemed to be afloat high in the sky.

I thought things would ease in Europe, far from the seething conspiracies of Asia. But here the underground is just as active and just as anti-U.S., a month after the Summit conferences, as it was back there in Asia.

Here I found evidence of Communist activity, more startling than before. The Russians, shortly after they returned from Geneva, summoned to Moscow their regional chiefs from France, Italy and other nations. In the Russian capital in the past few weeks the Soviet leaders have briefed the regional gauleiters on the newest tactics to be used against the U.S.

A CZECH AIRLINER, for example, carried Jacques Duclos, general secretary of the French Communist party, to the Kremlin for briefing two weeks ago.

He was there at the same time that the Italian Communist fronter Pietro Nenni, was being talked to by the Soviet high command.

What I can't understand is how anybody, anywhere, can believe that the cold war is being eased when this man Nenni—who is playing a decisive role in Moscow's revolutionary plotting—is quoted on a Moscow radio as bitterly attacking the U.S., our friends, and the Vatican, just a month after Geneva!

This attack was reprinted prominently in Pravda, official newspaper of the Russian Communist party, published in Moscow.

These lads aren't even subtle. They just kick us in the face.

BECAUSE THE ITALIAN Communist party is the world's biggest and best organized Cominform unit outside of Russia and mainland China, I decided to wind this trip up in Italy. If the Soviets were sincere, it would be reflected here swiftly in the action of the Italian Communist organization.

I found that the friends of the U.S., especially the anti-Communist labor leaders, are thoroughly discouraged.

First they fear that the anti-Communist trend inside Italian labor has stopped. We were able to cut Communist control of labor in the key factories down to 54 per cent over the past year, but now the trend is toward the Communist party again, leaving them majority control.

Furthermore, I found that these Italian labor friends of ours and our own intelligence agents are aware that the president of Italy, Giovanni Gronchi, is secretly negotiating with Pietro Nenni, Moscow's friend, in an effort to topple the current Italian cabinet and bring pro-Communists into the next Italian government.

THAT WOULD BE grim for us. It would come at about the same time we finish resettling our troops from Austria in Italy, which now has powerful NATO military and naval concentrations, commanded in part by Italians. How would you like those Italian officers to be taking orders from a cabinet in which sat agents of the Soviet Union?

But that's not all. Here you find that Communist newspapers are printed on government presses. The Commies are billed at special low prices—which they seldom pay. Here the government's TV and radio networks are under orders not to attack the Communists or use the phrase "anti-Communist."

Here you see a revived Communist party spending millions of dollars on real estate, putting up hundreds of new headquarters as workers' centers in scores of cities and villages. I've done some driving through Italy this past week. In and around Florence, the "federation of the Communist Party" and the Communist unions have just built 73 new centers.

THERE IS A VILLAGE called Bottegone in Pistola province, population 2,000. There the party has just opened a modernistic round-domed Communist center. It has a movie theater seating 500, special TV and billiard halls, an open air dance floor and a restaurant. Plans call for tennis courts and a swimming pool. In the evenings there are revolutionary discussions and bitter attacks on American capitalism. There is nothing in Karl Marx which says you can't run a revolution from a swimming pool.

The party is making headway. If it captures Italy, the hope for world peace may be behind the eight ball.

And don't bet the Communists won't become powerful in Italy, all too soon.

Christopher Columbus was right. The world is round. And the Comrades sure are giving it a terrific whirl.

Vacation Notes

By Hal Boyle

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass.

Vacation notes: It is a wonderful experience to introduce a child to an ocean. This has been a crowded and happy time for our daughter Tracy Ann, who isn't quite 26 months old. During a week's stay on this historic old whaling island off the Massachusetts coast she enjoyed her first dip in the Atlantic Ocean—and had her first romance.

HAL BOYLE

One of the odd things about parents is that they always hope their children will like the things they do. All my life I have loved wind and rain and the sound of water, and I wanted Tracy to feel the same way about them.

—:—

SHE LIKES TO TRY to catch a breeze in her fingers, to go wading in the rain, to watch the moon come up. But I was afraid the ocean might seem overpowering to her. But Tracy made friends with the ocean on sight. Dressed in her first bathing suit, she stepped to the edge of the beach, squinted out at the sail-studded sea and announced gravely: "Big water. What's it doing, Daddy?"

That rather stumped me.

Tracy stuck a pink thermometer—her big toe—into the water, and pulled it back. "Cold," she said. The surf moved in and covered her ankles. "Big water—it comes at you," she said, as if she had made a profound discovery, as indeed she had. A moment later she was prancing waist deep in the water, and I had to restrain her from wading right on over to Europe.

"CAN'T WALK on big water," she said, puzzled.

"Don't worry about it, honey," I reassured her. "Daddy can't either. If he could, he sure wouldn't have to work for a living."

Most young ladies complain there aren't enough young men at a resort. Tracy hasn't had that trouble. Soon after we returned to our apartment a young fellow with a nose full of freckles looked up at Tracy in the window and called, "Hi, stupid."

Flattered at this mark of esteem, Tracy replied, "Come up," a moment later the little boy appeared in the doorway and said, "I'm Davy Crockett, an' I'm more'n 6 years old."

Escapee Recaptured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An escapee who broke out of the Columbus Workhouse Saturday was captured early today at his home here, police reported. He is Jack Devine, 21, who with six other men sawed through three bars of a dormitory window and slid to the ground on twisted mattress covers. Four fugitives were arrested Sunday. The two still at large are Robert McDaniel, 28, Mansfield, and Lawrence Sullivan, 35, of nearby Briggsdale. The city, meanwhile, announced it was launching a probe to find out why guards failed to notice the sawing operation.

United Appeals Official Speaks To Lions Club

E. J. Kinter, executive secretary of the Marion County United Appeals organization and the Marion Community Foundation, presented the aims and problems of United Appeals officials in planning the approaching fund campaign when he spoke at the Marion Lions Club weekly luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Harding.

He noted that questionnaires have been sent out to all businesses to list proprietors and names and addresses of all employes. He explained the organization has a speakers' bureau to inform the public of the functions of United Appeals, and in addition a sound movie for educational and informative purposes has been prepared locally.

The goal this year, Mr. Kinter said, is $174,000, which amounts to approximately $10.40 for each individual industrial employe.

Harold Fetter, Marion Soap Box Derby chairman, announced that Larry Craig, Marion's Derby winner, placed seventh rather than eighth at the National Derby in Akron, as previously announced. Craig was a guest at the meeting and thanked the club for its efforts in making it possible for him to go to Akron.

Guests were Wayne Hall of Charleston, W. Va., W. R. Jarbo of Lindsay, Calif., John White and Julian Garner of Marion.

area. They are assisting local chapters in meeting emergency needs and preparing for the major rehabilitation program to follow.

The Red Cross is operating 107 shelters, housing and feeding 12,000 homeless persons, and providing clothing to everyone who needs it. Over 400 nurses and 150 physicians, who have volunteered their services, are assisting in this program.

Present indications are that over 8,000 families will register for Red Cross assistance in the stricken areas, Harriman reported in his telegram Monday. On the basis of these figures, he said, it is estimated that Red Cross relief required might well reach or exceed five million dollars.

Uniformed volunteer workers of the local chapter will staff a contributions stand at the Marion County Fair beginning today, Douce reported. In addition, rural residents may leave their contributions with the banks in Waldo, Prospect, Green Camp, LaRue and Caledonia.

Pledges may be called into the Red Cross office at 2-1653, and for those who cannot bring their contributions to the fair or the county banks, a Red Cross worker will stop to pick it up.

Local Red Cross chapter officials hope to have Red Cross volunteer workers stationed on several downtown corners later in the week for the convenience of contributors.

Morocco

clogged the roads moving towards the Atlas Mountains and some villages in the border hills were evacuated.

The French cut off the area from all traffic not escorted by military convoy.

The French denied that any censorship is in effect but lack of official reports, communications difficulties and roadblocks effectively cut information to a minimum.

The reprisals in Morocco overshadowed similar operations in Algeria, where order apparently was more quickly restored.

Six Minor Traffic Accidents Reported

Four minor no injury traffic accidents were investigated Monday and today by City Police.

Highway patrolmen reported one slight injury in the only accident investigated in Marion County. A no-injury accident was investigated by sheriff's deputies.

In one city accident, a truck struck a tree in front of 1073 Davids St. It occurred Monday at 9:06 a.m. Police reported the truck headed north on Davids was driven by Robert Eugene Eads, 16, of the Sawyer Rd. It went out of control and skidded into the tree. The left front of the truck was damaged.

A car and truck collided at the corner of N. State and Fairview Sts. at 3:21 p.m. Monday. The car driven by Harold Gix, 18, of near Prospect, traveling west on Fairview, was unable to stop and skidded into the truck driven by Charles H. Dawson, 30, of near Delaware. The truck was owned by the Marion Distributing Co. Dawson was headed north on N. State St. at the time of the accident.

Each of the other two accidents resulted in damage of less than $100, police estimated.

Auto Hits Guy Wire

One accident was investigated Monday by the Marion County sheriff's department.

It happened on State Route 529, east of Marion when a car driven by Mrs. Emma Edwards of near Waldo skidded on wet pavement as it rounded a curve, deputies reported. The car went out of control and struck a guy wire supporting a utility pole. The front end of the car was damaged extensively and the car was removed by wrecker. Deputies reported the guy wire on the utility pole also was damaged.

Cars Collide at Waldo

One person sustained a minor injury in one accident investigated at noon Monday in Waldo by state highway patrolmen.

The accident occurred as a northbound car driven by Calvin Ginter, 58, of Bevinsville, Ky., struck another northbound car, driven by Emily Waugh of Columbus, which was stopped for a traffic light on Route 23.

Mary Ginter of Bevinsville, Ky., a passenger in the car driven by Ginter, sustained a bruised right knee. Moderate damage was reported to the front of the Ginter car and to the rear of the Waugh car. Ginter was arrested on a charge of failing to stop within an assured clear distance ahead and is to appear in Municipal Court at a later date.

County Fair

In the livestock judging Monday, two Kenton men had their dream fulfilled as they made a grand sweep of all top prizes in the Brown Swiss dairy cattle division.

The men were Ray and James Parrott of near Kenton. Their animals won the junior, senior and grand championships in both the bull and female classes. Fair officials described the event as a once in a lifetime happening in cattle competition. The men said they had worked for 25 years before finally being able to come through with the sweep.

In other dairy cattle judging in the afternoon, the main winners were:

GUERNSEY, senior and grand champion bull, Clifford Murphy and Son of near Cardington; junior champion bull and senior, junior and grand champion female, Bart Jordan and Son of near Mount Gilead.

Jersey, senior champion bull, Kenneth Berger and Son of near Mount Vernon; junior and grand champion bull and junior, senior and grand champion female, H. J. Bittner of Danville.

Ayrshire, junior, senior and grand champion bull and senior and grand champion female, West Unity Ayrshire Farms; junior champion female, Emerson Overmire of Oak Harbor.

In the afternoon dairy cattle judging, officials of the fair pointed out that the Ayrshire cattle shown this year were some of the best to be shown here in recent years. Judge Henry Conklin of Plain City also called the Ayrshires shown Monday an excellent group of animals.

In the Holstein show in the evening an animal owned by F. D. Lawrence of near Marion took senior and grand champion bull prize, while one owned by Marlow Zachman and Son won the junior championship among bulls.

In the female class, a heifer owned by William Earl of near Marion and shown by his daughter, Jo, won the senior and grand championships, while the junior championship went to an animal owned by Harold Smith of near Marion and shown by his daughter, Dianne.

—:—

BETHLEHEM Grange's booth was awarded first prize by the judges and will be taken to the Ohio State Fair at Columbus for competition. Second in the event was the booth by the Mount Olive Grange, while the United Grange booth was third.

The United Juvenile Grange booth was the only one exhibited in the juvenile group and took first prize.

In the senior fair produce judging, Gerald Weaver of 583 W. Fairground St. took a total of 47 prizes in the potato and vegetable classes.

Harry Benzler of near Marion won four prizes with corn entries and four in grain and seed displays. Paul A. Miller took six prizes in vegetables and four in fruits.

Poultry was judged today and Weaver had four prizes in the duck class, four in turkeys and three in rabbits.

Alfreda Collmer of near Marion had nine prizes in the chicken judging, four in the duck event and two in geese. Carolyn Schurtleff of Fredericktown had 20 prizes in chickens and 15 in rabbits.

In the junior fair section, activity began Monday with the judging of foods, clothing exhibits, booths and a tractor operator's contest.

In the tractor operator's contest, Howard Seckel of Claridon won the event for the second straight year. Harry Kramer of Claridon was second; Kenneth Collmer of Claridon was third and Ted Uhl of New Bloomington was fourth.

Because Seckel competed at the state fair last year, he is not eligible to participate in the state event this fall. Kramer will represent the county in the state-wide contests at Columbus. Seckel will receive a trophy for his efforts.

Five youths were picked to attend the state fair for their efforts in the foods department. They were Margaret Oldham of Meeker, Suzanna Lovett, Gloria Swick, Julianne Wells of Pleasant, and Jane Fogle of Waldo. Booths which were awarded "A" grades by the judges Monday were prepared by the following clubs:

Prospect Little Ruhlers, Morral Mixed-up Misses, Prospect Merry Mixers and Little Doers, New Bloomington FHA, Pleasant FHA, Big Island Girls, LaRue Buckeyes, Green Camp Junior Busy Bees, Meeker Trojanettes, Prospect FHA, Prospect Happy Hustlers, Waldo Winners, Claridon Buckeye Lads, Pleasant Farmers, New Bloomington Lads, Prospect 4-H Dairy Club, Morral-Grand Prairie Farmerettes, Grand Prairie Modern Farmers, Claridon Tommies, Prospect FFA, Claridon FFA and Morral FFA.

The rains Monday did no appreciable damage on the fairgrounds. A few puddles formed in low spots, but fair officials had trucks of gravel on the spot quickly to prevent damage. The harness races went on as usual in the evening with a good crowd in the grandstand.

Scientists say the old adage, "If you heard the thunder or saw the lightning, it did not strike you," is quite true.

Income

er cities which now have an income tax.

Plan Called Fair

All reported the tax is fair because it is imposed equitably on all persons working or living within the city. With an estimated total income both personal and business in Marion of between $60-million and $90-million a year, the city could obtain approximately $250,000 a year from a city tax on one-half of one per cent, he said.

In answer to a question by Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward, Quaintance said that the income tax could be adopted by Council, subject to a referendum of the voters.

Ralph Williams, Fourth Ward, reported on the proposal for a sewer use tax.

This too is an equitable form of taxation, he said because it places the cost for the use of the sewers on the persons and firms which use them.

This income could be used for maintenance and operation of existing facilities, construction of relief sewers and treatment plant construction. It may not be used to extend sewers to previously unsewered areas, he said.

Would Net $144,000

Assuming that a system of flat rates were adoped with a one dollar a month charge for domestic users and 16-cents charge for 100 cubic feet of industrial use, the sewer tax would produce nearly $144,000 a year and this could be used to pay for both operation of the sewer system and to cover principal and interest and other charges on a $1,000,000 improvement project, Williams said.

Other method reported was that of the operational levy. Councilman - at-large Robert Haldeman said that this method permits the city to place before the voters an operating levy of any millage to produce the additional income desired.

With a $70 million property valuation in the city, a one-mill levy would produce $70,000 a year, two-mills would produce $140,000 a year and so on, he said.

He noted that this must be placed before the voters and adopted by them and that the only restriction is that the total millage outside the 10-mill limitation may not exceed five per cent of the total property valuation.

Council took no action on any of the reports but adopted a motion they be received and filed for further study.

School Bus

Shattered glass and school books lay among the mangled bodies.

"My two boys came running toward me out of the dust, hollering 'Daddy, Daddy.' I was never so glad to see anybody in my life."

Crisp's sons, Robert, 7, and Francis, 8, required only first aid treatment.

Spring City schools, as in many other rural Tennessee areas, start classes in August to allow a harvest-time recess.

Gov. Frank Clement ordered an immediate investigation.

The crossing was equipped with automatic warning lights. State Highway Patrol Sgt. Cecil Strader quoted Moore as saying the signal device was not working. Strader said several bystanders reported the lights were working properly.

Reunion of the J. C. Pinney family was held Sunday at the home of Mr and Mrs. Harland Pinney near LaRue. Relatives were present from Berea, Iberia, Harpster, Mount Vernon, Delaware and Columbus. Next year's reunion will be held the first Sunday in August at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McClarey in Harpster.

Aumiller Park at Bucyrus was the place for the 37th reunion of the Layman family Sunday with 29 relatives and friends present. Elected as officers were Walter L. Layman of Meeker, president; Donald L. Freece of Marion, vice president; and Mrs. Donald L. Freece, assistant secretary. Permanent secretary-treasurer is G. Runaway Delaware Girl, 15, Nabbed in Grill Here

A 15-year-old girl parolee from Girls Industrial School at Delaware who ran away from a Delaware home where she was placed on probation last Thursday was apprehended by city police Monday.

She as picked up at a W. Center St. grill and is being held in the detention home here. She is to be returned to Delaware by a parole officer.

Greeks, Russians Sign Exchange Agreement

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece and the Soviet Union signed a trade and payments agreement here today. It will run for 17 months and provides for an exchange of 10 million dollars worth of goods from each country.

Detroit Tiger pitcher Steve Gromek once hurled an 18-inning scoreless tie, called because of rain. It was in 1943 when he was with Baltimore of the International League.

City Budget

is again able to present a budget that is in the black insofar as the actual general fund is concerned," he said.

Noting that the general fund in itself will be $4,600 in the black according to the budget, he said that Marion has the unique record of being on a "pay-as-you-go" basis since 1936.

Provides for Increase

Unless a great increase in services is demanded by the citizens or some unusual and unforeseen condition arises, the finance committee feels the city will continue to live within its income during 1956, he said. "I might add that this budget has been able to provide for an increase of some $16,000 which is the added cost of lighting the streets of Marion for the year 1956," he said.

"There is a black cloud on the horizon concerning our overall operation," he said.

Continuing he noted an expected $118,000 loss at General Hospital next year which will mean an overall deficit in city operations of $113,000 when the $4,600 in the black operation of the general fund is applied.

Losses Divided

It should further be noted that any loss at General Hospital must be included, by state law, as a part of the city budget, Quaintance said. But it should further be noted that the anticipated $118,000 loss at the hospital would not be paid solely by the city. Any losses at the hospital will be shared by both the city and the county with the city paying approximately two-thirds and the county one-third.

In his statement, Quaintance said there is an explanation for the expected loss at the hospital which may be based on facts and figures obtained from hospital records which are open to public inspection.

Pointing out that the hospital is operated by a board of governors who are high type citizens of the city and county, he added that when they took over their position they had no precedents to follow because the city had never before had a hospital of this size.

Thus the board along with the hospital administrator arrived at an estimated income of the hospital on the basis of 80 per cent occupancy and 90 per cent collection, he said.

Occupancy Light

But hospital records show that hospital occupancy has never been more than 74 per cent and on the average runs about 70 per cent, he said.

This is because the maternity floor is seldom filled to more than 50 per cent capacity while the medical and surgical floors are nearly always filled and sometimes have a waiting list, he said.

This loss of revenue from lack of full occupancy of the maternity floor has meant a $30,000 operating loss for the first six months of operation and will mean a total for the year of some $65,000, he said.

Projecting these figures further, it was necessary to anticipate a total loss of $118,000 at the hospital for next year, he said.

Not Unattended

"This situation is not going unattended," Quaintance added. A meeting was held last Thursday night to discuss ways and means of correcting this condition, he explained. The meeting was attended by members of the council finance committee, the finance committee of the board of governors of the hospital, the county commissioners, the city auditor and his deputy, the county auditor, the mayor, the safety-service director and the hospital administrator, he said.

"I personally am hopeful there may be a solution," he said. He further pointed out that many problems already have been solved in operation of the hospital and indicated many more may yet be solved with a resultant lowering of the deficit in operation of the hospital. He also said a possible increased occupancy at the hospital may help reduce the loss and pointed out that the loss so far this year has not been as great as was expected by many persons.

In the budget, actual and estimated income of the hospital for this year total $864,000 while expenditures totaled $975,500. Estimates for next year place income at $870,000 with expenditures of $988,000.

Other Changes

Other sharp changes in estimates of city income next year include:

A reduction of the balance in the city treasury down from $97,487 on Jan. 1 this year to $50,256 on Jan. 1, 1956.

An increase in general property tax, up from $250,000 for this year to $272,000 for next year.

An increase in sales tax receipts, up from $55,000 for this year to $60,000 for next year.

A decrease in inheritance taxes, down from $13,000 this year to $10,000 next year.

A decrease in interest on deposits, down from $2,500 this year to nothing for next year.

A decrease in revenue from the city parking lot lease, down from $1,500 this year to nothing for next year.

A decrease in parking meter revenues, down from $65,000 this year to $60,000 next year.

A decrease in garbage collection, down from $130,000 this year to $125,000 next year.

A decrease in miscellaneous funds to the city, down from $30,000 to $10,000.

$59,000 Reduction

Together with a few other minor increases and decreases in various revenues to the city, these add up to a total reduction in general and garbage fund revenues of some $59,000 for next year. Anticipated revenues this year total $870,083 while the estimated total for next year is but $811,763.

On the expenditure side of the budget, the biggest change is an increase at the hospital of $13,000 for next year, up from a total of $975,000 this year to $988,000 for next year.

Other changes include:

A $500 reduction in the expense allowance for the city auditor's office.

A $100 reduction in treasurer's office expenses.

A $200 reduction in solicitor's office expenses.

A $75 reduction in civil service expenses.

A $500 reduction in Municipal Court expenses.

A $3,050 reduction in fire department costs.

An increase of $1,000 in police department costs.

A $1,000 reduction in cost of support of prisoners in the workhouse.

A $200 reduction in board of health expenses.

A $150 reduction in cost of health inspections.

A $1,800 reduction in cost of operating the, service department.

A $380 reduction for the engineering department.

An $11,500 increase in the cost of street lighting.

A $9,000 reduction in garbage department expenses.

A $2,500 reduction in cost of operating the public parks.

A $1,000 reduction for public buildings and lands.

A $5,687 reduction in deductions by the county auditor.

A $3,416 reduction in workmen's compensation expenses.

A $6,500 increase in election costs.

A $1,000 reduction in transfers from the special assessments fund.

All these changes total up to $205 reduction in total expenditures of the city for next year. This year the anticipated total is $1,795,318. Next year the estimated total is $1,795,113.

Airman

Bumpas replied: "Thank you very much." Then he was escorted to a waiting ambulance.

Bumpas wouldn't talk to newsmen.

The flier and Brown's body were taken by helicopter to an Army hospital near Inchon, west of Seoul.

The Communists had announced that Bumpas, of Jackson, Miss., suffered a fractured skull in the crash.

He was examined shortly after being freed but there was no announcement of his condition.

The release site was the center of a small bridge straddling the armistice line, midway between Red and Allied lines in the 2½-mile-wide neutral zone.

The Reds have insisted Bumpas admitted he flew 10 miles into North Korea before the unarmed plane was shot down.

Red China's Peiping radio said today that Bumpas had told North Korean officials:

"I landed about 10 miles south of where I was first fired on."

His plane crashed in Red territory just north of the northern boundary of the demilitarized zone.

Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior Allied delegate to the joint Military Armistice Commission, told the Communists that ground observation proved that the Reds opened fire while Bumpas' plane was still south of the center line of the demilitarized zone.

Flood

meeting with the six Northeastern governors and representatives of North and South Carolina, previously heavily damaged by hurricanes.

The President spoke at a table in the hangar at Bradley Airfield where the group conferred.

"I have met here with the governors," Eisenhower said. "You have read in the papers and seen on television what has happened. But you can have no conception of what has happened until you have come here and listened to these governors. This is a case where the federal government, state government, and county governments will do everything they can."

He said the federal government will go into business at once on a long range flood prevention program including insurance to prevent losses such as suffered during this flood.

Eisenhower urged the states to get down to work right away.

The President pledged that the federal government would do everything possible to work out some way of preventing such disasters in the future. He said he was certain the state governments would cooperate in such a program.

He also promised that the government would do its utmost to provide jobs for those who have lost them.

After the presidential conference, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson estimated 75 million dollars would be needed from the President's emergency fund to aid the devastated areas.

Peterson said there now is $11,600,000 in the fund. The President, he said, will ask leaders of Congress today for permission to make allocations extending the credit of the government up to the amount needed.

The conference lasted an hour. Eisenhower took off for Washington.

How Funds Will Be Split

Before the conference with the President, Peterson told newsmen that the 75 million dollars would be allocated.

Connecticut and Pennsylvania 25 million each.

Massachusetts 15 million.

Rhode Island and New Jersey 5 million each.

Peterson said that all agencies have been directed by the President to "cut out all red tape."

On his early morning aerial tour of flood-stricken sections of four states, the President tersely commented that the floods were a "terrible thing."

Adverse weather conditions sharply curtailed the President's firsthand observation of destruction. He squinted from the plane windows through overcast skies and drizzle as the craft crossed devastated portions of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Flight Cut Short

He had planned also to inspect damage wrought by last weekend's floods in Rhode Island and Massachusetts, but warnings of thunderstorms over that area caused the flight to be cut short. The presidential plane Columbine headed for Bradley Airfield here and made an instrument landing.

In the six-state area 180 persons are known to have died and the toll is expected to go higher. Damage has been estimated in the billions.

Lack of Speed Reported at Both Local Grid Camps

Larson and Robbins Stress Need for 'A Lot of Work'

Both Gordon Larson at Harding High School and Ray Robbins at St. Mary are facing major rebuilding projects for the approaching grid campaign but neither is counting his squad out.

After two days of drills both came up with the identical statement last night—"We need a lot of work."

Observers at the opening drills of the Harding squad have expressed concern over the size of the 1955 grid hopefuls. However, that's not the most serious problem, Coach Larson feels.

"Lack of speed is our biggest problem," the new Prexy mentor says without hesitation. He reports he has become accustomed to working with smaller gridders at his former post at Akron South.

And, to add to his troubles, Larson already has lost the services of the boy who would have been his fastest back. Bob Shaffer, counted on heavily in the Prexy backfield picture, has moved from the city and now lives at Wapakoneta.

THE NEW COACH has become fully aware of the rebuilding job which confronts him. Graduation robbed the Harding squad of 19 seniors. "We're green," Larson says, but he holds out hope for an interesting Prexy season.

"The kids show signs they want to go," he said. "They're a green bunch but they're willing to work and they're very attentive," he pointed out.

The Harding squad staged its first contact work at Monday afternoon's drill session.

Fifty-five boys reported for the opening practice session Saturday but five have dropped out.

The squad will continue at the two-a-day rate until the opening of school as it points toward the opener Sept. 16. Prior to the inaugural at Columbus West, the Prexies will play host to Norwalk in a preview contest.

Following the Columbus encounter, the Prexies will play four straight home engagements. The complete schedule includes: at Columbus West, Sept. 16; Newark, Sept. 23; Toledo Macomber, Sept. 30; Fostoria, Oct. 7; Elyria, Oct. 14; at Findlay, Oct. 20; at Ashland, Oct. 28; Fremont, Nov. 4; and at Sandusky, Nov. 11.

"If we can scramble for five games, I'll be happy," Larson says of the schedule. "There's no speed here now and none coming up," he concludes.

IN ADDITION to Larson and his four aides, Jim Lawler, Al Beach, Lou Ralston and newcomer Bob Massaros, Marion's three junior high school mentors, George Whitehead of Edison, Marion Waits of Taft and Don Zeisler of Eber Baker, are helping conduct the Harding drills prior to the opening of junior high grid drills.

"We're shaping up fairly well," Robbins reported of his St. Mary team. Forty-five boys reported for the drills and Robbins expects them all to stick. "They're pretty hepped up about it," he said.

Robbins is optimistic and believes his squad will "do all right." We'll have the line but right now we need a pair of speedy backs," he reports

The Irish coach is planning a lot of experimental work in an effort to solve his backfield problem. "We don't have the speed we lost in John Messenger, Jerry Cornely and Jerry Ballenger and I don't expect to have it," he said.

With Hank Davis and Max Roseberry assisting, Robbins already has made a couple of major shifts. Jon Smith has been moved to an end post from a guard slot and Jim Campton is being converted from the backfield to end. Bill Robbins is another top-flight end prospect.

The Irish line will be bolstered by a pair of rugged tackles. Dick King, 6-2 and weighing 210, along with 6-1 Butch Simpson at 200, will be likely starters. Larry Kelly and 230-pound sophomore John Maniaci are other tackles.

Dick Mounts is slated to move from end to a guard post with John Bull and Tom Moloney also filling those positions. Bill Tobin, 170-pounder, and 180-pound Carmen Morbitt will handle the center slot. Quarterbacking is Robbins' top problem. Dave Kelly, a sophomore, holds the edge but Roger McCombs is another likely prospect. With no grid experience, McCombs has shown he can throw the ball and kick.

THE HALFBACK spots present another problem but the Irish mentor indicates Bill Lavender, shifted from end, and Don Shearer, only returning backfield man, hold the edge currently. Ranking behind them is Frank Grace, a sophomore, whom Robbins is counting on as a defensive starter. Charles Bigler also is in the running for one of the posts. Bob McMahan and John Spangler, along with Harold Jackson, a sophomore, are the fullback candidates.

All in all Robbins is expecting to field his biggest team since coming to St. Mary. The Irish open Sept. 16 on the road at Kenton, a new opponent on the Irish grid slate. The remainder of the schedule includes: Sept. 24, Elm Valley; Sept. 30, at Cardington; Oct. 8, Olentangy; Oct. 14, at Mount Gilead; Oct. 22, Big Walnut; Oct. 28, at Carey; Nov. 4, at Richwood; and Nov. 10, Willard. Willard and Kenton are both Class A schools.

Marion County Golf Event Set For September

Details of the 1955 Marion County Open Golf tournament next month at the Mar-O-Del have been announced by Ray Augenstein, tourney manager.

It will be held Sept. 11 and 18. Augenstein said entry fee per golfer for the 36-hole medal play tourney will be $3 and that entries will be taken up to the time of the matches.

Augenstein explained that the tournament was open to any golfer in the county. He also said that anyone playing in the open would have top priority at the tee off sites. Times of 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. each Sunday have been set for open tournament play.

A rotating trophy offered by The Marion Star will go to the tournament winner and Mar O-Del and Marion merchants will offer numerous merchandise prizes.

Outfield Assists Help Drives by Chicago, Yanks

CHICAGO (AP)—The big factors in any team's drive for a pennant are hitting and pitching.

But swamped in baseball's multitude of statistics are outfielders' assists—one of the small and reasonably important reasons why the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox are running one-two in the American League pennant race.

The Sox, paced by Jim Rivera and Minnie Minoso, top the league with 42 assists from the outfield and the Yankees run a close second with 38.

Records are not available, but unofficial team figures indicate nearly half of Chicago's outfield assists have nipped runners at the plate. And that with a team that has played 45 one-run games—winning 22.

Rivera is tops in the league with 20 assists and Minoso has 14. Together they have more than any team except the Yankees. Frank Lane, White Sox general manager, praised his two hard-throwing outfielders.

"Remember, we're primarily a defensive team and those assists are real important in breaking up rallies and cutting down runs at the plate," says Lane.

"I know those two guys can throw but what surprises me is that they have so many assists," he continued. "You know, usually an outfielder with a so-so arm will have a lot of assists while those with real good arms won't have many. That's because base runners take more chances on weak-armed outfielders.

"I think a few years ago Gus Zernial led the league or was near the top in assists. Now Gus doesn't have a real good arm but he gets a lot of chances since runners will gamble on getting an extra base on him.

"What I'd like to know is how many runners actually made the extra base on Gus that year," Lane added.

One of the surprises in the list of outfielders' assists is Cleveland's poor showing. The Tribe has a total of 18, three more than Washington. Detroit and Baltimore have 24 each. Kansas City has 26 and Boston 30.

"You can bet the Indians would have won a few more games than they have if they had more assists," said Lane. "Doby (Larry) and Smith (Al) have good arms and runners don't take too many chances on them but it takes three men to make an outfield."

Behind Rivera and Minoso are Al Kaline of Detroit with 11, Hank Bauer of the Yankees with 10. Mickey Mantle, of the Yankees, last year's leader with 20, has 9.

Moore Signs Contract for Shot at Title

NEW YORK (AP) — If Rocky Marciano belts his sparring partners around with extra vigor in the next few days, they can blame it on Archie Moore.

The heavyweight champion has been doing a slow burn since the 38-year-old Moore, a psychology student, tossed the gauntlet to Rocky at their contract signing ceremony yesterday afternoon.

It happened when the fighters posed for television and newsreel cameramen and were asked to make statements. Commission Chairman Julius Helfand sat between them.

Archie, sporting a mustache and flourishing goatee, was the first to speak. Facing the cameras, he said:

"Rocky, it's been a long time and it should be a great fight and make us a lot of money."

Then he turned to face Marciano and added:

"Rocky, I do expect to win your title."

Marciano's eyebrows shot up at the unexpected thrust. After a moment's pause, he turned to Archie and replied:

"Archie, you sure have created a lot of interest in this fight. I'll be ready on Sept. 20 for the fight of my life."

The confident light heavyweight king has said before that he expects to beat Rocky but the surprising part was that he said it to his opponent's face. It usually isn't done. As a matter of fact, no one present at the ceremony in Helfand's office could ever recall any fighter ever going beyond the usual "I'll be out to do my best" statement at such an affair.

Archie seldom does anything on the spur of the moment and the chances are that he deliberately planned the remark in his "war of nerves" with the heavyweight ruler.

Toledo Nine Takes Fourth Place in AA

By The Associated Press

Like old man river, those Minneapolis Millers just keep rolling along. But their closest pursuers in the American Association can't avoid hitting an occasional snag.

Last night the illers fattened their league lead by tripping Omaha twice, 6-5 and 4-2, while St. Paul handed Denver its third straight loss, 3-2 in 12 innings. Denver and Omaha, who started the evening tied for second place, now trail Minneapolis by 8½ and 9 games, respectively.

Toledo leapfrogged past Louisville into fourth place, another half game back, as the Sox measured the Colonels, 4-2. Indianapolis bested Charleston, 5-2.

Brown, Parker To Lock Horns In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — One of pro football's warmest rivalries—between Paul Brown and Buddy Parker—will be continued in the Senior Bowl Game Jan. 7.

Parker, coach of the Detroit Lions, was signed yesterday to coach the north squad in the seventh annual All-Star game. Brown, head coach of the Cleveland Browns, will handle the south team.

Parker and Brown locked horns in three straight pro world's championship games. Parker's Lions took the title two years but lost to Brown's Cleveland club in 1954.

The methodical Brown had won three straight Senior Bowl games as coach of the north team before his squad bowed 12-6 last January to Steven Owen's south team.

Parker was an assistant under the late Bo McMillan in the first Senior Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1950. Owen, former New York Giant coach and now an assistant at Baylor, coached the south squad in all six games.

The all-star game was moved to Mobile the year after the opening game at Jacksonville.

Parker was signed for the Senior Bowl game while in Mobile preparing his Lions for an exhibition game with the Washington Redskins here tomorrow night.

Columbus Jets Idled by Rains

By The Associated Press

Four of the eight pitchers nominated for "most valuable pitcher" in the International League hurled last night.

Result — one victory and three defeats.

Only Ken Lehman of Montreal made it to the winners' circle, blanking Syracuse 1-0, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Royals dropped the second game, 9-2.

Mel Heim, Rochester's entry for top honors, blew a two run lead to Richmond after two were out in the ninth to lose his eighth game against the same number of victories. A three-run rally in the seventh inning gave the Red Wings a 6-5 triumph in the first game at the expense of contender Bill Voiselle, who now sports a 7-5 mark.

Jack Crimian (17-6) and Jose Bracho (9-3), nominees of Toronto and Havana, watched the action from the bench as the Cubans eked out a 4-3 triumph over the Leafs with a single tally in the ninth inning.

Columbus' Dutch Romberger (7-4) and Bennie Flowers (9-8) of Buffalo never got a chance to loosen up as the contest was washed out.

Reds Open Last Eastern Road Swing

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, riding high on a four-game winning crest, open their last eastern swing of the season against the last place Pittsburgh Pirates tonight.

Right now the Reds are one of the hottest teams in the National League. They have won 19 out of their last 26 outings, with their last five setbacks of the one-run margin variety.

The Reds have whipped the Pirates 14 times this season while losing only 5 times. Only Milwaukee ties this mark of beating a club 14 times. Its victim is Chicago, which has turned the tide five times.

Although Cincinnati has been most successful against the Pirates, Forbes Field has held out on home run leader Ted Kluszewski. It's the only park in the league he has not homered. He has only tonight and tomorrow to come through here.

Big Klu's 41 homers in 124 games compared favorably with his pace last year when he led the majors with 49. He didn't hit No. 41 until the 131st game on Aug. 31. Babe Ruth, whose spurt of 17 homers in September gave him the home run record of 60, hit his 41st in his 124th game and his 42nd in the 125th.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts assigned Jackie Collum, whose 9-7 record includes 3 victories and 1 defeat with Pittsburgh, the mound duties. Vern Law will pitch for the Bucs.

Yanks Meet Tigers

Chicago Shooting for Lead In Twin Bills With Orioles

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The crucial has become the commonplace in the fantastic American League pennant race. One slip on the part of any of the four contenders could mean finis to its hopes.

Only 4½ games separate the league leading New York Yankees from the fourth-place Boston Red Sox. In between stand the Chicago White Sox, half a game behind the Yanks, and the Cleveland Indians, one game back.

Someone has to crack. Yet no one shows any signs of giving in. If anything, all four are getting stronger on paper.

The Yanks' home run power again is asserting itself and its pitching is in order.

Ace Returns

The White Sox again have Dick Donovan, their ace pitcher. He was laid up by an appendectomy for three weeks.

The Indians appear ready to roll with a four-game winning streak.

The Red Sox, hanging doggedly on, are backing up their pitchers with timely hitting. And Ivan Delock's pitching has been a revelation.

Boston and Cleveland clash head on tonight, while the Yanks and White Sox have easier assignments. Casey Stengel's operatives face the Detroit Tigers, 13 games back and out of the running now, while the White Sox play the sad Baltimore Orioles in a twi-nighter.

The Pale Hose have 14 games left with the other contenders. The Yanks have 16 and the Red Sox and Indians 15 each. Marty Marion's lads have a good opportunity to climb into first place since they play the Orioles four times within 24 hours — the twi-nighter tonight and a day doubleheader tomorrow.

Hope for Streak

Something else that could decide the race in a hurry would be for one team to get hot. Both Al Lopez, the Indians' leader, and Stengel of the Yanks say that the club that can put together a fat winning streak will win it.

In the National League, the only question is: When will the Brooklyn Dodgers snap out of their slump. They've lost nine of their last 13 games and at the moment are 11 games ahead of the Milwaukee Braves.

A flash storm rained out the only action on Monday's schedule—a doubleheader between the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates. The rains came in the top of the fifth of the opener with the score tied 1-1. They'll be played at a later date in New York.

Kaline Almost Cinch for AL's Batting Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit's Al Kaline, only 20-years-old and playing in his second big league campaign, had the American League batting title all but sewed up today.

With less than five weeks of the season left to go, Kaline holds a 37 point lead over runnerup Vic Power of Kansas City.

The Tigers' outfielder gained three points to .351 in last week's games. Power, meanwhile, dislodged Harvey Kuenn of Detroit from the No. 2 spot. Power dropped five points to .314 while Kuenn, in his worst slump of the year, lost 10 points to .313 with only five hits in 30 at bats.

In the National League, Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies fell two points to .331 for an 11 point margin over Brooklyn's Roy Campanella in second place. Campanella also slumped two points to .320.

Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati, the senior circuit's third leading batter at .317, continues to set the pace in home runs with 41. Duke Snider of the Dodgers has driven in the most runs, 111, although Philadelphia's Del Ennis, with 100 RBI's, is gaining ground.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees walloped six homers in last week's games to bring his season's American League-leading total to 32. Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox leads in runs batted in with 95.

Jules Louiso Tops Drivers At Fair Races

Jules Louiso drove his horses to wins in two of the three races at last night's harness racing session at the Marion County Fair.

He piloted Paul Jackson to wins in both dashes of the three-year-old old trot, and drove Adios Emlen, owned by himself and R. McCafferty of Fayetteville, home first in both dashes of the three-year-old pace.

Paul Jackson's time as he led Gallant Way, owned by Francis P. Smith of Woonsocket, R. I., with Harry Short up, across the finish line in both dashes was 2:14 and 2:14 1-5.

Adios Emlen had times of 2:01 1-5 and 2:15 2-5 in copping both starts of the three-year-old pace. Sweet Toni, owned by Ned Blessing of Marysville and driven by Harold Smith, finished second in the first dash and Connelly, driven by Floyd Trees of Ostrander, came in second ahead of Sweet Toni in the second dash.

The wins by Paul Jackson and Adios Emlen won for their owners $1,000 in purse money and trophies from the Schaffner Furniture Co. and B & B Motor Sales.

Robert M, owned by Dr. C. S. McGeorge of Negley, O., and driven by Adrian Burgett, won only the first dash of the 17 pace but copped the Carl's Auto Parts trophy by virtue of its higher standing in both dashes.

Robert M won the first dash of the pace in 2:13, then fell to third in the second dash won by Hardin, owned by Hoyt Crowe of Johnstown, O., with Hap Buel in the sulky. Hardin's winning time was 2:13 1-5.

Hardin's win paid $26.40 on a $2 ticket, the highest mark in the two racing sessions to date. The horse had finished fourth in the first dash and was apparently overlooked in the betting for the second dash.

There were no Marion entries at last night's races, with Richwood and Byhalia horses the only entries from the area.

The daily double, on Paul Jackson in the first race and Roberta M in the second, paid $15.60.

Racing continues tonight at the Fairgrounds, with the final racing program scheduled Wednesday night.

Leafy Oak Coondog Trials Expect To Draw 600 Entries

Some 600 dogs from 20 states are expected to be entered in this year's 28th annual Leafy Oak National Coondog Field Trial to be held over the Labor Day weekend at Seccaium Park between Galion and Bucyrus.

Ray Wert of Mansfield, owner of the trial which in former years had been held at Kenton, expects more than 10,000 persons to attend the three-day event.

Racing will begin at 7 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 3, and will continue through Monday, Sept. 5. All entries are to be in by Thursday, date of the public drawings for heats to be held at Seccaium Park at 8 p.m.

A guaranteed purse of $2,000 is offered to the finalists and trophies will go to the owners of the first and second line and tree dogs in final.

Line flags and the tree, marking the end of a mile and an eighth course with coon scent, are adjacent to the midway at the trial and spectators can watch the action with a minimum of walking. Parking space and facilities for meals are available and following the races each evening there will be dancing and entertainment in the park. Sand boxes, swings and pony rides will be available for the children.

Davey Makes Return to Ring; Manzi Stopped

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Chuck Davey, the once flashy collegian who three years ago fought his way to a welterweight championship bout with Kid Gavilan, planned a comeback today.

But judging from the split 10-round decision the former Michigan State University fighter gained over Pat Manzi of Syracuse Monday night it was hard to see how Davey plans to get anywhere in his return.

Davey, slow and rusty after a 15-month rest, piled up points more because Manzi couldn't solve his southpaw style rather than on any great merit of his own. Weighing 148, Davey carried a 2-pound edge over Manzi.

YMCA Here Asks For New Leaders

An appeal was issued today by the Marion YMCA for members in the YMCA Leaders Club.

Formation of the club for young men and women 'Y' members was announced by Dean Ludwig, physical director.

He has issued a call for any boy or girl over 13 years of age interested in trying out for the club.

A select group of boys and girls, club members must meet the necessary requirements of the Marion 'Y' and the National YMCA and are expected to attend all club meetings, Ludwig said.

He explained that the Leaders Club would open the door to many new fields in the YMCA and would enable club members to learn how to lead, learn new skills, participate in new projects, and become a member of a world-wide fellowship of leaders.

Registrations for the club will be received by Ludwig either in person or by phone at the 'Y'.

Division Titles At Stake Today For Trapshoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The little fellows get their crack at gold and glory today in the 56th Grand American Trapshoot.

In all but today's competition the less talented marksmen are forced to fire on even terms with the hotshots. In today's class championships, however, they compete only against those of comparable ability.

National titles in five divisions will be decided in the 200-target event. They are class AA for shooters who have averaged 96.5 or better this year on at least 500 targets at 16 yards, class A for those with an average of 94 to 96.5, class B for 91 to 94, class C for 88 to 91 and class D for under 88.

Some 700 shooters are expected to compete.

Entry fee is $25, of which $13 goes into the purse. The Amateur Trapshooting Assn. has added $2,500 to the prize fund and the shooters may toss $40 each into the optional wagering system in which they back their own prowess.

Also on the day's program is the state team race in which the five top shooters from each state compete at 16 yards and the champion of champions contest for junior state champion.

Trapshooting officials hoped for better weather than experienced yesterday in the 200-target introductory event which was held up for more than three hours by heavy rain and most of which was staged during a drizzle.

In the introductory, the following national champions were named: (scores in parentheses):

Men veterans (over 70) Homer Clark Sr., Alton, Ill. (99x100); women veterans (over 50) Mrs. Van M. Marker of Versailles, Ohio (93x100); father-son, Frank and Bob Diefenderfer, Reading, Pa. (390x400); brother-brother, Joe and Paul Heistand, Hillsboro, Ohio (387x400); husband - wife, Claude and Ruthe Winterrowd, Chicago (387x400); zone singles, Walter Ostrom, Orangeburg, N. Y. (100x100); women champion of champions, Mrs. Winterrowd (99x100).

Mrs. Frances King of Atlanta, Ga., broke 92 targets to take second place in women veterans competition.

Behind Mrs. King with 90 was Mrs. H. B. Rader of Jeffersonville, Ohio, with 90x100.

Indians Gird for Invasion By Boston Red Sox, Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP) — While the American League race narrows down to a daily succession of supreme tests, Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians sticks patiently to the same script and repeats his boys are due to break loose.

Who's he going to pitch? Well, tonight it will be Herb Score against the Boston Red Sox. Next day it will be Mike Garcia. Then Early Wynn, Bob Lemon and Score against the New York Yankees.

When the baseball writers point out that Wynn, Lemon and Garcia haven't looked good for a long time, Lopez says, "they got some bad breaks, too."

The Indians will be trying for their fifth straight victory tonight. Their longest win streak of the season was six games.

The fact that fourth place Boston and first place New York are in town this week doesn't make things more crucial than usual. Unlike last year, when the Indians romped to the pennant by crushing the second division, they've been having trouble with everybody but Baltimore this year.

The Indians have done better against the Yankees this season than they have against the Washington Nationals, who follow the Yanks to town for a Sunday doubleheader. Cleveland leads the Yanks 10 games to 7 for the season, while the Nationals hold the same margin over the Tribe. Boston is also 10-8 over Cleveland. The Indians beat the Red Sox 20-2 last year.

Score, who hasn't won his last five starts against Boston, and lost four of them, will oppose Frank Sullivan tonight.

Al Rosen, recovered from an injury, will probably be back at third base for the Indians tonight—giving Lopez the same lineup he started the season with, except for Gene Woodling instead of Ralph Kiner in left field. Woodling has been hitting too well recently to keep on the bench.

Two Witnesses Are Quizzed at Sheriff's Trial

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Two Gallipolis men took the witness stand Monday in the trial of Jackson County Sheriff David L. Trago, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The two, Bobby Harrison and Melvin Dyke, testified they saw a car bearing the name of the Jackson County sheriff in the vicinity of White St. last July 1, the date and place of the alleged offense.

Under defense questioning, the two men disagreed as to the position of the sheriff's emblem on the car. Dyke said it was on the back of the vehicle, and Harrison said it was on a side door.

Harrison testified that as the car passed his home, a 17-year-old airman jumped out and ran up on his porch.

Common Pleas Judge Francis D. White of Athens County, sitting by assignment, agreed to a defense move eliminating testimony by Harrison on what the youth told him after he jumped on the porch.

The young serviceman's mother filed the charge against Trago.

Nevada Resident Charged in Huron

BUCYRUS—Jack Nickelson, 24, of Nevada, was turned over to Huron County authorities late yesterday after he walked into the Crawford County jail here and surrendered to Sheriff Elwood F. Jacobs.

Sheriff Jacobs said Nickelson, a carnival worker, is being held in the Huron County jail at Norwalk, where is wanted on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a teenage Willard girl.

Nickelson's brother, Donald E., 25, an escapee from the London Prison Farm, turned himself in to state highway patrolmen Saturday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ora Nickelson, in Nevada. Donald had escaped from the prison farm last Tuesday and told patrolmen he had been hiding in a woods, west of Bucyrus. Originally sentenced on an auto theft charge, he had been returned to the penitentiary in March, 1954, as a parole violator and later transferred to the prison farm.

Sheriff Jacobs reported that Jack Nickelson walked into his office, asked if any charges had been filed against him and then submitted to arrest when told that the mother of a Willard girl had charged him with contributing to the delinquency of her daughter.

Pentecostal Holiness Group Not Snake Cult

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A snake handling demonstration, broken up by state police Sunday, was not arranged by the Pentecostal Holiness Church as previously reported.

Such services are held by the Holiness branch of the Church of God, explained one of its members, Oscar Hutton of St. Charles, Va.

Hutton was one of those who attended Sunday's meeting near the Kentucky-Virginia border, southeast of Harlan, Ky.

FILES FOR PASSPORT

BUCYRUS — Robert Andreini of Bucyrus, former owner of Bianchi's Confectionery here, has made application through the Crawford County Clerk of Courts office here for a passport to Italy. A native of Italy, Andreini came to the United States in 1920 and became a citizen in 1927. He last visited in Italy in 1928. He will leave New York City by ship on Sept. 17 and expects to spend about 18 months visiting relatives.

PRESIDENT AWARDS RIBBON to grandson at boys party. The awards to various boys featured a party the President and David gave for 32 youngsters.

Guards Smash Second Riot at Nebraska Jail

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A bottle-tossing and fire-setting "riot at the Nebraska State Reformatory was quelled Monday night by guards who jerked more than 100 prisoners from cells, stripped them and slammed them into tiny cells of the maximum security jail.

It followed a riot and fire at the state penitentiary last week.

Reformatory Supt. George Morris said his own trouble started because the inmates wanted to distract attention from a search for two work detail prisoners seeking to escape.

"They were on the cell block roof. The other inmates knew it. So they started acting up and we had to get busy with them. The two on the roof didn't get away, and we smashed the demonstration by opening the doors of cells where the inmates got too tough, jerking each of the four occupants out, stripping them and slamming them into the security jail.

"Those little security jail cells are really built for only one person. But we put as many as 10 of the bad actors in each one," Morris said.

Dies of Injuries

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — Banner Clingerman, 80, of Youngstown, Ohio, died yesterday of injuries received when his car overturned on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Thursday.

Six Face Charges in County Brawl

Six persons were issued citations Monday by the sheriff's office on a warrant signed by Gerald Burton, charging them with disorderly conduct.

The six are to appear in Marion Municipal Court Saturday. Sheriff's deputies reported the six allegedly took part in a fight outside Pop and Jerry's Night Club on Route 4 Saturday night.

The six charged by Burton, manager of the place, are:

Lewis Louch, 27, and Shirley Louch, both of 273½ Bellvue Ave.; Ren Keeton, 33, and Martha Keeton, both of Green Camp; and Marion Cox, 29, and Dorothy Cox, both of Green Camp.

Burton's warrant was filed in Municipal Court Monday.

Mine Accident Is Fatal to 3 in Pennsylvania

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP) — Three men were killed and eight injured Monday when the 100 foot high steel and frame Kohinoor coal breaker collapsed in the southwestern end of this anthracite community.

Twenty-six men were working in the breaker when the top collapsed and a mass of wood and twisted steel roared down on the men working below.

Ordinarily 150 men would be working in the breaker but coal shipments were delayed by the floods which washed out railroad lines and roads in disaster stricken eastern Pennsylvania.

There was no immediate estimate of damage or cause of the collapse announced but men at the scene seemed to feel the incessant rain of the past week may have weakened the structure.

A coal breaker is a machine or plant for breaking up coal.

Win Traffic Awards

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Barberton and Springfield, Ohio, were two of 20 cities chosen by the American Bar Assn. to receive its 1955 traffic court awards. The awards, announced yesterday, were given for "progress in proving the quality of traffic courts." Barberton earned second place in the 25,000 to 50,000 population class, and Springfield, was first in the 50,000 to 100,000 class. Columbus, Akron and Toledo, Ohio, were picked for having outstanding traffic courts deserving special mention.

Lutheran Church Intern Assumes Duties in Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Clarence H. Rose, a native of Killeen, Tex., began his duties here this week as an intern at Good Hope Lutheran Church. He succeeds Richard L. Graves, who is returning to Capital University in Columbus to complete his theological training.

Rose, who also is preparing for the minstry with the American Lutheran Church, will serve here one year. He is a middleman at the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary and will be graduated in two years. He took his pre-seminary course at Texas Lutheran College at Seguin, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1953.

He will assist Rev. E. J. Katterhenrich in Luther League work, Sunday school and other activities of the church.

Missionaries Meet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The 39th annual meeting of the National Christian Missionary Convention (NCMC) was told yesterday to forego specific functions such as evangelism and Christian education. The advice came from Convention President Dr. R. H. Peoples of Indianapolis who advised leaving those functions to designated white agencies in the denomination. The NCMC is a Negro branch of the Disciples of Christ. Dr. Peoples said NCMC should work toward becoming "bridge builders between racial groups." More than 200 delegates registered for the week-long session.

Veteran Recovers Ring Lost in Korea

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Broderick Spendiff has his Siena College class ring again, two years after losing it in Korea.

Spendiff lost the ring when he was serving with the army in 1953. A detail of Koreans found it last fall while cleaning out old installations. A Siena man in the army there at the time sent it to the Rev. Benjamin Kuhn, Siena alumni director.

Father Kuhn traced Spendiff by means of the initials and the graduation date —1952— engraved on the ring.

When the 28-year-old Hannibal started for Italy he had 50,000 foot soldiers, 9,000 horsemen and 30 elephants.

"I know all the answers—trouble is, you don't know the questions!"

Nautical Cop on Hudson River Finds Job Can Be Complicated

Sickles is a nautical cop—for 40,000 motorboats.

Sickles, who used to be a tugboat captain on the Hudson River, is New York State's boat inspector, charged with the job of policing the thousands of motorboats that zoom around the state's inland lakes each summer.

After more than 36 years on the job, he still feels he'd be safer tug-boating on the river than trying to cross a busy Adirondack lake on a summer Sunday.

"Most folks navigating the Hudson know what they're doing," he says.

Speeds Increase

When he started his job, a motorboat was really zipping along at 10 or 12 miles an hour. Now, they go 40—and there are 10 times more of them.

However, Sickles' office gets only about a dozen accident reports a year.

These are reported on forms—similar to ones for auto accidents—including spaces to show whether "master was intoxicated," "master was asleep," or "master appeared confused."

Another space is headed: "In your opinion could accident have been avoided?"

Cause of Accidents

"Yes, if I had been looking ahead and he hadn't been in the area," one boatman replied.

And that, Sickles believes, might well be the cause of most collisions—nautical or highway.

As for speeding boats, Sickles says it's too hard to tell how fast a boat is going, so he gets conviction on reckless driving charges—abotu four a year.

Sickles also has troubles over lights and whistles. There's a law that says all couples in canoes at night on New York waters should carry lanterns.

Sickles tried to enforce this once on Lake George. Only thing was, the canoists wouldn't believe there was such a law—or, that there was a boat inspector.

Around Council's Table

Marion City Council adopted 13 pieces of legislation and discussed numerous other issues in a nearly five - hour long session Monday night at City Hall.

Parking Charge Set

An ordinance establishing the parking rates and times for the city parking lot at S. Prospect and W. Church Sts. was adopted unanimously and without discussion.

The rate for parking in the lot will be five cents an hour and will be in force on a 24-hour a day basis, except for Sundays and holidays when there will be no charge for parking in the lot.

The ordinance also set up fines for persons who fail to pay the hourly rate. Within one hour after the violation the fine will be 25-cents and after the first hour will be one dollar. This is the same schedule of fines imposed for over-parking in the on-street parking meter zones.

Safety - Service Director John Davis said the lot is open for public use and noted that driveways in the lot are all one-way from south to north through the lot.

$67,250 Transferred

An ordinance transferring $67,250 from the general improvement bond issue fund to the special improvement Jefferson St. sewer fund was adopted unanimously without discussion.

The money is part of the balance remaining from a 1945 sewer bond issue voted by city residents to pay for several needed sewer projects.

In addition to the use of this money, residents in the vicinity of the Jefferson St. sewer, now under construction, will be assessed to help pay for the project.

Shift Additional Funds

An ordinance transferring $3,100 from the contingent appropriations account to three other accounts was adopted unanimously and without discussion.

The total will be used for the purchase of incidentals, medical supplies and lands and buildings, according to the ordinance. Amount set up for incidentals was $1,000; for medical supplies, $100 and for lands and buildings, $2,000.

Okay Plumbing Shop

A resolution approving action of the city planning commission in granting a permissive use permit to Floyd E. Robinson for establishment of a plumbing shop on property owned by him was unanimously adopted. Councilman Harold Smith, First Ward, said he had received three objections to the proposed plumbing shop but none of them were from abutting property owners. It was reported to Council that no one had attended the planning commission hearing to object to the proposal.

City Offices Leased

An ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to lease 736 square feet of space on the third floor of the city hall to the Bureau of Internal Revenue was adopted

Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward, said that it was his understanding some two months ago that four rooms on the third floor of the building were to be rented to the government agency for a certain price but that this price had subsequently been changed.

He said the last he had heard about the proposal was that the lease charge was to be $1,500 a year for the four rooms. But recently he was informed that the lease price was raised to $2,208, he said.

Safety - Service Director John Davis said that he and Mayor Harold F. Robinson had determined that the city would lose money on the lease at any figure below $3 a square foot.

Councilman Richard Lister said he thought this was too high a figure and noted that office space may be rented in downtown buildings for as little as $1.25 a square foot.

William Tracewell, local agent for the Bureau of Internal Revenue, said that he had been told by his superiors that the government could not pay more than $1,500 for the space. He added that while his office would only use four offices in the building that other government agencies might rent the remaining third floor office space.

John Davis said that one reason for the high figure established by himself and Mayor Robinson was that the entire third floor of the building would have to be heated if only part of it were leased. He argued that because none of the other office space has been rented that the Bureau of Internal Revenue should pay the entire cost of heating the floor.

Council decided this would not be necessary and approved an ordinance establishing the rental fee for the four offices at a total of $125 a month or $1,500 a year with janitorial service, heat and light furnished.

3 Alleys Vacated

Ordinances ordering the vacation of three alleys were adopted. Each of the vacations were petitioned for by abutting property owners. The alleys to be vacated include one running north of Mt. Vernon Ave. between 360 and 368 Summit St.; another running between lot numbers 9030 and 9031 north from Oak Grove Ave.; and the third is an east west alley north of Oak Grove Ave. from the east line of lot 9045 to Clinton St.

Approve Corner Guard

A resolution authorizing Nick Paulson to construct a steel corner guard on the Midway Restaurant on the north east corner of the building adjacent to an alley was adopted by a five to four vote.

The steel corner guard is to be for the purpose of preventing trucks and other vehicles turning into the alley from striking and damaging the building.

Councilmen voting against the resolution said they feared the corner guard would extend onto city property and the city would be liable if any accident occurred involving it. Voting against the resolution were: Harold Smith, First Ward; James Jenkins, Second Ward; Herman Rinehart, Third Ward; and John Courtright Jr., at-large.

Councilmen voting for the resolution said that the guard would extend a maximum of only four inches onto city property and it seemed unlikely it would be the cause of any accidents. Voting for the resolution were Ralph Williams, Fourth Ward; Don Quaintance, Fifth Ward; Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward; Richard Lister, at-large; and Robert Haldeman, at-large.

City Solicitor George Piacentino said that the city's liability would have to be decided in a jury trial if the issue ever came up in the courts.

Two Claims Paid

Ordinances authorizing the payment of two claims against the city were also adopted.

One was submitted by Paul Lesser of 671 Davids St. It was for $140 for repair of a broken sewer line in the street in front of his residence.

The other was submitted by a former city employe, Frank Blanton, and was for $62 for a one-week vacation pay he earned while employed by the city. Payment of both claims was recommended by Safety - Service Director John Davis.

Street Lights Approved

A resolution authorizing the Ohio Edison Co. to install street lights on Lilac Lane was approved unanimously. Six lights are to be installed on the street, Robert Haldeman, chairman of the utilities committee said.

Cooperation Asked

A motion directing the safety-service director to ask cooperation of the owners of the Patio Restaurant in prohibiting cars from speeding out of the restaurant parking lot on Sargent St. was adopted.

Action of council on the issue was requested by property owners in the area who said they feared that cars leaving the parking lot by way of an east-west alley opening onto Sargent St. might strike and injure persons walking along the sidewalk.

The residents complained that "hot-rodders" speed out of the parking lot at a high rate of speed creating not only a traffic hazard but also causing considerable dust and noise.

Davis said that the owners of the restaurant recently told him they were anticipating blacktopping the parking lot and erecting a fence between it and the alley so that only E. Center St. entrances to the lot could be utilized.

Councilman - at - large Haldeman noted that because of garages served by the alley, it could not be vacated nor made one-way and thus there was little council could do officially to correct the condition. He said that he felt it was more a problem of police action than of legislation.

Fifth Ward Councilman Don Quaintance moved that the safety-service director be directed to contact the owners of the restaurant and ask their cooperation in blocking off the alley from the parking lot. The motion was approved unanimously.

Pay Raise Refused

A request of Sanitation Department employes for a wage increase was rejected by Council on the basis of a report by the finance committee that the city does not have necessary funds to grant any pay raises to city employes.

Robert Artripe, speaking on behalf of the Sanitation Department employes, said that he felt council should take action to raise the $1.31 an hour scale for laborers in the department. He said under present day costs, this is too low pay on which to attempt to support a family.

He further argued that employes in the department should be granted an increase because income of the department is greater than its cost of operation.

Councilman - at - large Robert G. Haldeman said that in operation of city government, salaries are not determined by amount of revenue this or that department brings into the city treasurer. He noted that some departments have no income at all.

Sixth Ward Councilman Harold Fralich said that in previous discussions on the request by the sanitation department employes, it had been determined that Marion is paying about the same wages as other nearby cities of similar size.

Quaintance noted that the sanitation department has offered much improved service during the last few weeks and Artripe argued that if the city hopes to retain present employes in the department and to maintain the quality of service, wage increases should be granted.

Artripe also hinted that employes of the department may strike unless some action is taken by Council to give them a raise. He said a five to 10-cent an hour raise would give the employes sufficient take home pay that they could provide for their families.

Council took no further action on the request.

Other Action

In other action, Council:

Turned down a request for a cross-walk to be painted across S. State St. at the second alley south of E. Center St. on report of the streets and alleys committee that such a crosswalk in the middle of the block would create a traffic hazard. The request was submitted in a petition signed by businessmen in the vicinity.

Received a letter from City Engineer John V. Ruth estimating the cost of curbs, gutters and sidewalks on Olney Ave. from Bellefontaine Ave. south to Duluth Ave. at $5,907. Council ordered legislation declaring the improvement a necessity to be prepared for action at the next Council meeting.

Received two other letters from Ruth noting that petitions with sufficient signatures had been received requesting installation of storm and sanitary sewers on Oak Grove Ave. from Clinton to Highland St. and from Clinton to Whittier St.

Discussed a proposed Adams St. sewer but took no action on it. Ruth told Council that the method of assessing the cost to abutting property owners still is to be determined. He said some of the properties actually face an intersecting streets and this may make it necessary to assess the cost on the basis of benefits derived rather than on front foot of property lying along Adams St. This is still under study, he said.

Received a petition signed by some 280 persons requesting that a loading zone on the east side of N. Grand Ave. extending north from E. Center St. be changed to a 30-minute limit parking area. Business men in the vicinity said the truck loading zone prevented customers from using the available parking spaces even though no trucks were unloading there during much of the day. They said the 30-minute parking limit would permit parking of both trucks and customers' cars. Safety - Service Director John Davis said the truck loading zone was established because there had been instances when trucks parking on N. Grand Ave. extended into E. Center St. completely blocking westbound traffic lanes. Council adopted a motion of Harold Smith, First Ward, directing that the loading zone be changed to 30-minute parking.

All Councilmen were present for the meeting and the invocation was by Rev. Sheridan Walker, parish minister of Epworth Methodist Church.

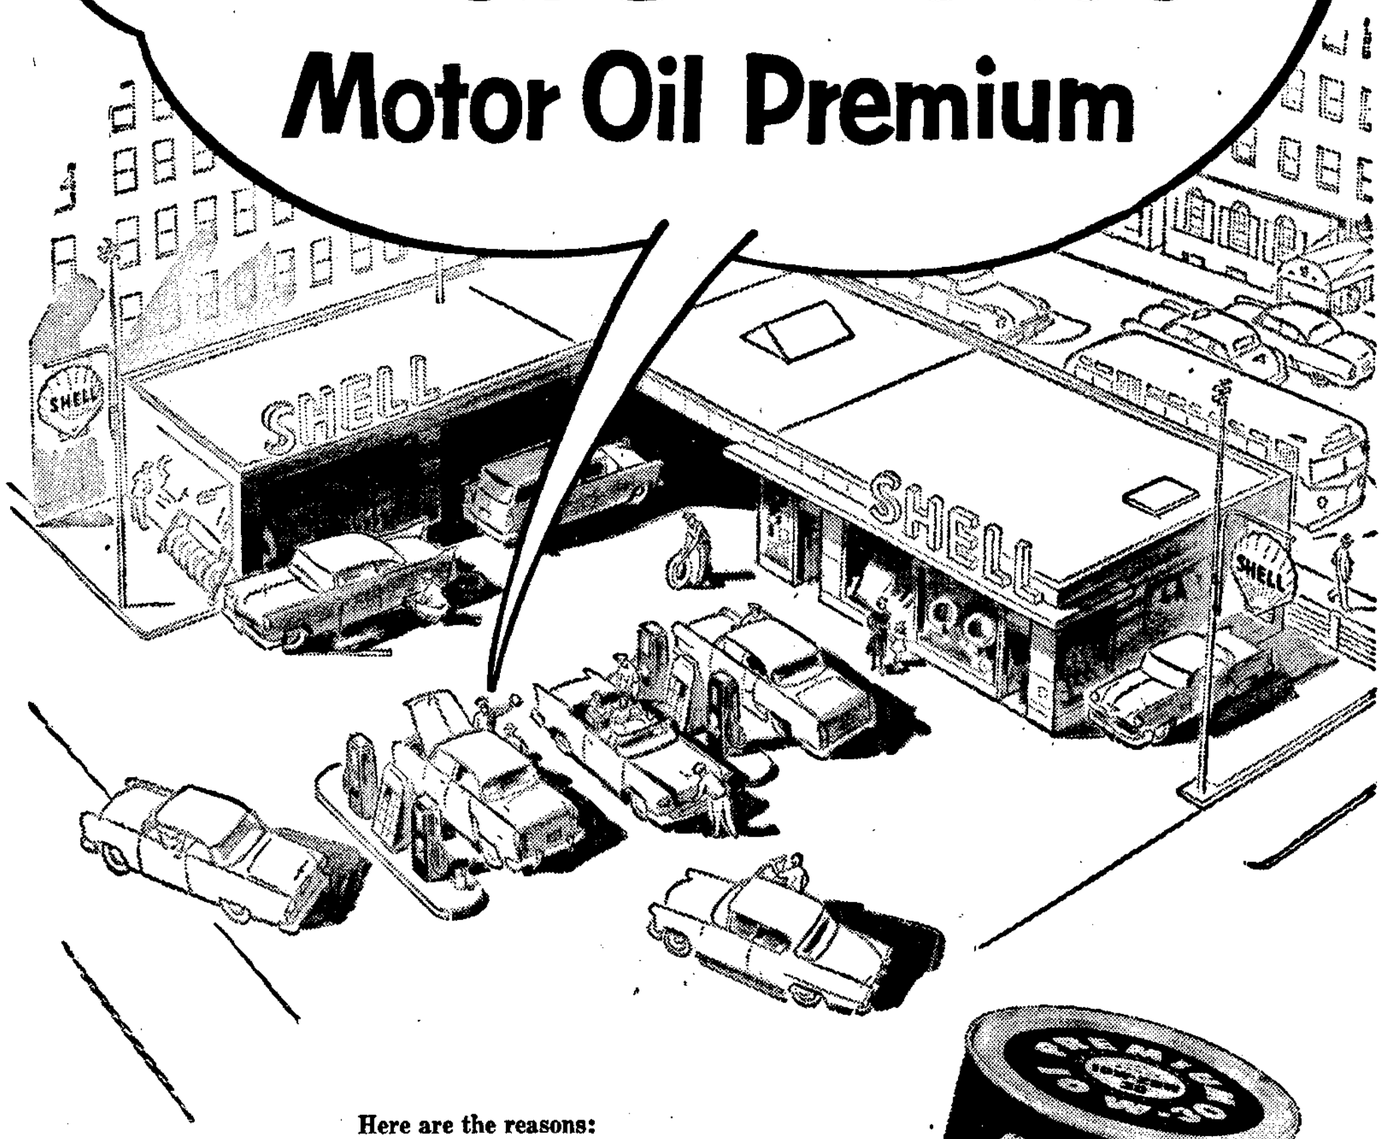
You can get
5 to 10 more horsepower
with new SHELL X-100
Motor Oil Premium



Here are the reasons:

Before an ordinary motor oil can flow freely, it's got to be warmed up. Until it is, your engine will waste from 5 to 10 horsepower just pushing it around. Even on the hottest days your engine starts cold and seldom warms up fully in average driving.

That's why you need new X-100® Motor Oil Premium.

Unlike ordinary motor oil, X-100 Premium flows freely even when your engine is stone cold. It lubricates immediately—without engine drag—gives you 5 to 10 horsepower as a bonus.

And because new X-100 Motor Oil Premium contains an "alkalizer," it stops acid action—the major cause of engine wear.

Next time, have your Shell Dealer drain and refill with new Shell X-100 Motor Oil Premium. It's the finest protection your engine can have.

Renovation Starts At Bucyrus Church

BUCYRUS — A $10,000 exterior renovation project is under way at First Methodist Church here.

The exterior of the brick structure, one of the city's largest churches, is being sanded, pointed, painted and sandblasted by the Masonry Maintenance Co. of Marion. L. A. Erbes, manager of the J. C. Penney store here and chairman of the church's board of trustees, said today the project is expected to be completed by Nov. 1.

About a year ago, the interior of the church was redecorated.

While the renovation program is under way, worship services and Sunday School will be held in Fellowship Hall in the basement of the church.

Thieves Heed Sign

Electric Truck Service Ended After 45 Years

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The big city's traffic jams and fast spreading suburbia today have claimed another victim.

The last of its electrically driven pickup and delivery trucks has been retired by the Railway Express Agency. Figuratively, it joins the last of the company's horses, put out to pasture in 1933.

From now on the gasoline motor reigns alone in the company's service—until and unless the atom pushes it out in turn.

The electric had a 45 year span with the express company. Thousands of them, with their solid rubber tires, once moved through the streets of 30 or more cities. In their heydey 166 operated in Chicago, 174 in Philadelphia. Finally only New Yorkers saw them—and mercifully didn't hear them.

In World War II the electrics returned for a last fling of glory. They glided along, thumbing their noses at the gasoline shortage and unadorned with ration stickers on their windshields. For a while in the postwar era the company still found them economical.

A company spokesman says: "They are practical now only in certain conditions, like New York's concentrated garment district, where they can do a whole day's work in a small area, with stops mainly for loading, with the batteries turned off.

"But for long hauls around today's sprawling cities they're uneconomical. They can't make fast getaways from traffic jams. The constant starting and idling runs their batteries down too fast. Batteries aren't cheap. They cost around $2,000 per vehicle, require elaborate equipment for recharging, and have to be recharged almost nightly."

Refinery Blast Kills 1 in North Carolina

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — One man remained in "very critical condition" and two more were in fair condition today with burns suffered in the explosion of an oil refinery that killed Rufus Whitaker of High Point Monday.

The blast, whose cause was unknown, wrecked the High-Penn Oil Co. plant near the Greensboro-High Point airport.

Carl Thompson, also of High Point, was reported in critical condition at Cone Memorial Hospital here. John Peeler and his brother-in-law, Henry Ingram, were the other injured.

Whitaker's body was recovered from tons of dirt and steel.

Joe Brinson, head of the firm, said the refinery was a total loss. A crop-dusting pilot, Jack McAdoo, flying near the scene, said flames soared to 1,000 feet.

4 Playgrounds In City Attract Total of 14,700

A total attendance of more than 14,700 children in the summer recreation program at four Marion city playgrounds was reported today by Paul O'Rourke, city recreation director.

"It was a very successful program," he said, "but it needs to be expanded next year to serve additional sections of the city."

He noted that the total attendance for the nine-week program meant an average daily attendance of 395 children in the four playgrounds.

Total registration at the playgrounds for the summer was 1,981, he said.

A complete report of the summer activities will be turned over to the city recretation commission O'Rourke said. Included also will be various recommendations aimed toward improving next year's program, he added.

The recreation program ended last Friday. It had been conducted in Lincoln Park, the George Washington, Harding High, and Glenwood Schools playgrounds for the previous nine weeks.

End of the recreation program in the four playgrounds does not mean the closing of the parks. The three city parks—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley will be open for public use until a month after Labor Day.

Pastor-Policeman Addresses Galion Rotarians on Crime

GALION — A challenge to members of the Rotary Club and to other service club members in Galion to so live their Christian faith that it will bring about a decrease in the crime situation was made Monday night by Rev. Raymond L. Butler, pastor of the Market Street Methodist Church.

Rev. Butler spoke at the dinner meeting of Rotary at Hotel Talbott.

The pastor, who works as an extra man on the desk at the Galion police station at night, said that through his connection with the department this summer he has gained an insight into conditions which has helped him in his pastoral work.

Rev. Butler read a recent report of the police department, telling of increases in practically all categories of crime, and he said that only the practice of Christianity throughout the community can bring about a change for the better.

The work of the police department is the apprehension of criminals, Rev. Butler pointed out, but he said it is up to the individual citizen to exhibit his Christianity both by example and by word so as to check crime before it starts.

The pastor said that there is no peace in the world today and only the word of God can bring things to rights. He said there is always a lack of spiritual development in cases of wrong doing.

Cleveland's GOP Backs Councilman For Mayor's Post

CLEVELAND (AP) — After two months of trying to find a candidate for mayor, Republican leaders yesterday endorsed Kermit K. Neely, a 37-year-old city councilman.

The policy committee of the county Republican organization "recommended" that the organization support Neely, and ward leaders are expected to do so today.

Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, an independent Democrat who won his first term with the support of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, will seek re-election to the $25,000-a-year post.

The Democratic organization candidate is state Senator Joseph W. Bartunek.

The Oct. 4 primary will be nonpartisan to the extent that party affiliations will not be listed on the ballot. If nobody gets a majority in the primary, the two candidates with the most votes qualify to run off in the Nov. 8 general election.

Fugitive Arrested In Wisconsin Will Face Trial in Ohio

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Clarence Dye, 43, described as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, will be extradited to Ohio to face an armed robbery charge stemming from a July 29, 1946 holdup at Akron.

Edwin M. Wilkie, legal counsel for Wisconsin Gov. Walter Kohler, approved Dye's extradition at a hearing yesterday in which Dye denied he was the man wanted.

Dye, a fugitive since the robbery, was picked up in Milwaukee on a detainer filed by the FBI. He claimed he was not in Ohio when the crime occurred.

Representing Ohio at the hearing were Police Sgt. John Carlton and Deputy Sheriff Richard Cowley of Akron and Asst. Atty. Gen. William Platz of Wisconsin. The Ohio officers said they would make necessary arrangements at district county in Milwaukee today, and return Dye to Ohio as soon as possible.

Vandals Hit Park

Vandalism at Garfield Park was reported to city police today. Someone pushed rubbish barrels over and upset a table in the park, police were notified.

Committed to Tiffin

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—Louis Brown, 21, of Bloomville, was ordered to the Tiffin State Hospital for mental observation after Sheriff John Dysard reported the young man slashed his left arm with a razor in his cell at Seneca County Jail. Brown's wounds were not serious. He was being held on a charge of issuing worthless checks.

Man Drowned But Wife Saved In Lake Storm

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The Little Lady, a 16-foot honeymoon cruiser named by her proud 78-year-old skipper in honor of his bride, capsized in storm-swept Lake Erie Monday.

The skipper drowned. His wife was saved after floundering three hours in a life belt.

Only a rare bit of luck kept Mrs. Harvey Hecker, 70, from drowning. By chance, Herbert Durst, of nearby North East, saw the couple's capsized boat in the heaving surf. He pulled Mrs. Hecker from the water. She is in fair condition at an Erie hospital.

Neither Hecker nor his bride could swim. But that didn't keep them from traveling several thousand miles since they were married May 21 at New Port Richey, Fla.

Hecker didn't make his first long boat trip until he was 75. With a smile, he told a reporter then:

"Maybe I'm a fool, but I'm going to have some fun before I die."

A retired Cleveland civil engineer, he became interested in small boats while living at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors home in Sandusky, Ohio.

In 1952 he put together a 16-foot skiff from a pre-cut mail order kit. He took it 4,000 miles around the country and said the trip cost him only $100 although it took 10 months.

Hecker was living in Florida when he met the former Mrs. Louise Lussier, a native of Munson, Mass. Ten days after their marriage, they started on the leisurely trip which ended yesterday.

Hecker assembled the boat in which he carefully planned his honeymoon. It was equipped with two 10-horsepower motors. It had no radio but the couple usually pulled into port at night and stopped in hotels.

IBERIA — Five new classrooms will be in use this fall when Iberia school students begin the 1955-56 year on Sept. 6.

The Washington - Bloomfield school will open at 8:45 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 6, for a half-day session and the first full day of classes will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Pre-school faculty meetings will be held Friday, Sept. 2, at the school. Teachers of grades one through six will meet at 9 a.m.; seven and eight at 10:45 a.m. and high school teachers will meet at 1 p.m.

Pupils Report Sept. 6

On the first school day, Sept. 6, pupils in the first through sixth grades will report to their regular classrooms; grades seven and eight in the new cafeteria; and nine through twelve, in the auditorium. Buses will pick up the students at 11:30 a.m. for dismissal.

Serving of lunches will begin on the first full day of classes, Sept. 7. Prices will remain the same as they were last year.

In addition to the five new classrooms, the new addition to the school includes the new cafeteria and kitchen and two restrooms. A music room has also been created from two former elementary classrooms, gas has been installed in the science laboratory and a new school bus has been purchased.

There are three new teachers at Iberia this year, including Mrs. Horace Braden, seventh and eighth grade social studies instructor; Robert Goff, fifth grade; and Joseph Shantz, high school coach and social studies teacher. Mrs. Braden is a resident of Iberia, has 13 years of teaching experience and helped with subsitute teaching at Iberia last year. Goff was reared in Chesterville and completed his college work at Ashland College. Shantz, a native of Parma, is a graduate of Ohio State University and recently was discharged from the armed forces.

Return to Staff

Other teachers at the school are: Mrs. Almeda McClarren, first grade; Mrs. Iona Heater, second; Mrs. Evelyn Peery, second and third grades; Mrs. Delores Poast, third; Mrs. Stella Ertley, fourth; Mrs. Mabel Burns, sixth; Mrs. Margaret Wiley, seventh and eighth grade English; Frank Furniss, seventh and eighth grade mathematics and science and elementary principal.

Any student who has not registered or wishes to change classes can do so at the school between Aug. 29 and Sept. 1 from 9-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m.

Japanese Women Seek To Rid Public Bath of Male Attendants

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese women, newly armed with the right to complain, are revolting against an ancient institution, the scrub boy at the public bath.

"Men, get out of the women's section," they are demanding.

Japan's 19,000 public baths, patronized by 70 per cent of the population, are divided into men's and women's sections. But at least 38,000 men, mostly young and robust, are entitled to work in both sections. These attendants wear only shorts as they scrub backs and regulate the water for stark naked bathers, male and female.

A Tokyo housewife wrote to the editor of the big evening paper Tokyo Shimbun: "Let's end this barbarian institution. Why can't these males be replaced by woman workers?"

An unmarried office girl complained: "We women simply can't stomach the ogling eyes of these males. Why do the police permit them to intrude into the nude women's section?"

"Nonsense," Shingo Muto, a 25-year-old bath attendant snorted in a letter to the editor. "How can we ogle them when we handle thousands of naked women. Do you think a cook gets excited over a beefsteak when he grills 200 of them every day of the year?"

He added solemnly:

"For us, naked women are just chores. Only women with clothes have appeal when you're on this kind of job.

A spokesman for the Japan Public Bath Assn. supported Muto:

"Male bath attendants don't have an enviable job at all. For just about $30 a month plus meals they not only scrub naked women's backs but double as boilermen and scroungers of firewood. Their job isn't for any woman."

Airman Is Home, His Wife Learns After 7-Day Wait

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Robinette, 24, who has been waiting here a week for the arrival of her airman husband from Germany, learned Monday he already is home in Chillicothe, Ohio.

The husband, Airman Paul A. Robinette, 22, arrived yesterday at McGuire Air Force Base, near Ft. Dix, N. J. Apparently he did not know his wife was in New York, and left immediately for the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Robinette, Rt. 7, Chillicothe.

Mrs. Robinette said she received word through the Red Cross her husband arrived there last night. She said she was too nervous to drive back to Ohio, that she would telephone her husband to fly to New York to meet her.

"I am very happy now to know where my husband is," she said, "but I am a nervous wreck and I can't drive home now."

Holdup Try With Toy Gun Fails in Kentucky

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A bank teller looked down the muzzle of a toy pistol Monday and told a would-be holdup man to "scram."

The unidentified man slipped out a side door and eluded police after teller Gay Price reported the incident.

Police Sgt. Clarence James said the man confronted Price at his window in the Second National Bank of Ashland and demanded that Price "hand over those 20s."

James said Price noted the fake pistol and told the man to "scram," or words to that effect."

Mother, Daughter Plead Guilty in Death of Boy, 4

DETROIT (AP)—A mother and her teen-age daughter pleaded guilty to second-degree murder Monday in the fatal beating of a 4-year-old boy. Police said Mrs. Lila Carter, 34, and Mattie Brown, 17, a daughter by a previous marriage, beat Mrs. Carter's son Erick with a rubber hose, broomstick and belt because "he wouldn't mind and was unruly."

Police found the boy's body in a sewer May 25.

Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat set Sept. 7 for sentencing.

Sgt. Gallagher's Crime

The finding of guilt against Sgt. James C. Gallagher by an eight-officer Army court-martial wraps up the most discussed case that came out of the alleged misconduct of U.S. prisoners in Korean and Chinese prison camps.

Gallagher was shown by the testimony against him to have been the kind of a soldier his companions feared and despised, when he and they were fighting for survival in the rigors of a prison camp. He was charged with the murder of two prison-camp companions who offended him because of their condition while in the throes of advanced dysentery. He was charge with spying on his fellow prisoners to get preferential treatment for his captors and collaborating with them to produce anti-U.N. propaganda. He was convicted on all charges.

But Gallagher's real crime appears to have been something that cannot be specified in a legal charge — the crime of turning against his fellow men under pressure.

His specific acts of betrayal were difficult to prove. But the men who had learned to mistrust him under pressure in a grim, one-sided battle for survival never had any doubt of his crime against human decency. They had convicted him in their minds long before they knew they ever would live to testify against him in a court-martial trial in the United States.

Experts on Loan

New York Democratic Rep. Celler has called off the dogs until fall in his hunt for scandal in the practice of having businessmen loaned out to the Department of Commerce. When fall comes, he may call off the dogs permanently.

The idea behind using experts on loan to help the Commerce Department keep itself in touch with the things it would have to know and to give businessmen a chance to learn more about government is hateful to politicians. They do not want outsiders buzzing around in what they regard as their private preserve.

It is particularly hateful to Democratic politicians like Celler who stay in Congress by being hostile to business because of the nature of politics in their big-city districts.

Celler and others like him found nothing wrong with bringing leftists and pinkos to Washington when their side was in power and thought it was cute to install Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce for awhile. They sent out emergency calls for business experts when the chips were down in World War II, of course, because no one else had the know-how.

But the party line of the New Deal calls for a smear campaign against business and businessmen.

It was sure fire in the thirties. But politicians are not as popular in the fifties as they were when they pretended to have all the answers —when the New Deal was new.

Smearing in the Fifties isn't going to be so easy.

Democrats Desperate for Issues

There is nothing to stop a citizen from running a fever over the Democratic Digest's efforts to whoop up an issue over the second Hoover Commission, if he feels feverish. But it is so clearly an attempt to find an issue where no issue exists that the fever isn't worth the thermometer.

All the Digest can find to complain about is the fact the second commission had a Republican majority and kept recommending reforms hateful to New Dealers. In view of the well advertised fondness of New Dealers for being reckless with other people's money and the well advertised fact the Hoover commission was trying to show where tax money could be saved, no one ever expected the commission would be popular with history's most lavish spenders.

Democrats have been as alarmed about the spenders as Republicans have been — and yet their party's official publication in 1955 is defending spending in a frantic attempt to create issues for the forthcoming presidential campaign. It gives you an idea what to expect from now on, as tub-thumping becomes a way of life for the politicos.

Target Practice

Live in a house by the side of the road, as the poet recommends, but if you want to be a friend of man don't build it at the top of a grade where the trucks shift gears all night.

—:—

Not only is the sun setting on parts of the empire, but a leading British newspaper comes out in favor of cold beer.

—:—

What's wrong with the car manufacturers that they don't make a play for the high-class gangster trade by advertising a model with a roomy, 2-body trunk?

—:—

A summer bachelor has found one way to make things seem less lonely around the house. When the doorbell rings he yells: "I'll get it."

—:—

The office grouch says a fellow who made a right turn in front of him from the lefthand lane ought to have a safety belt, and he'd like to give him one—right in the back of the head.

Battle of Billions

By David Lawrence

Free Elections Real Issue Before Supreme Court

Big business has every now and then reason to welcome the advent of big unionism on the American scene. There may even be rejoicing if big unionism prevails on the Supreme Court of the United States to rule that unions can spend any amounts they please in political campaigns.

Lawrence

Time was when only the corporations were forbidden by the Federal Corrupt Practices Act to make any contributions, loans, or gifts to any political campaign involving federal offices. But in the Taft-Hartley Act passed in 1947, an amendment to the Federal Corrupt Practices Act forbade labor unions, too, from making such contributions.

Now the CIO is testing the issue and claims that any such restriction is an interference with the right of free speech as guaranteed by the Constitution. Though it may be distasteful to the unions, the truth is the Constitution protects free speech for corporations as well. So, if the Supreme Court says the unions can contribute to political campaigns, corporations will be able to do the same thing. The 1956 campaign could yet come to be known as "the battle of billions."

ATTORNEY GENERAL Brownell requested the indictment of a CIO union — no individuals were named — just to find out what the rights of citizens are in respect to campaign contributions.

Strange as it may seem, the constitutional issue has never been passed upon squarely by the Supreme Court. As usual, some cases have been decided that skirted around the ends of the question but a full - fledged test has never resulted.

The Department of Justice in prosecuting the case will have to take the position that neither unions nor corporations should be allowed to finance political campaigns and that Congress was right in imposing restrictions of this kind.

The question will not turn so much on the rights of free speech but on the right to assure free elections.

The history of the cases under the Corrupt Practices law shows that constitutional rights are not unlimited or without qualification. Thus, campaign expenditures themselves have been limited in amount by law. Congress has from time to time felt it had the right to say what is or is not an excessive expenditure.

THE THEORY HAS been that candidates without funds and without the backing of powerful labor unions or rich corporations shall not be deprived of an opportunity to run for federal office.

The Bill of Rights in the Constitution has never been interpreted by the Supreme Court as permitting unlimited liberty or license. Thus a citizen has the right of free speech, but the Supreme Court has said this doesn't give him the right "to cry fire in a crowded theater."

Newspapers, moreover, are protected under the First Amendment from any law "abridging the freedom of the press" but if, in their business or commercial pursuits, they violate the anti-trust laws they cannot plead the First Amendment as a protection.

The issue that will come before the Supreme Court is whether a labor union may use the dues of its members for political purposes and thus become converted into a "political organization" for the purpose of a political campaign.

IF SO, HAS Congress no right to pass laws governing the activities of "political organizations"? This is the question that will logically arise and will have to be answered.

If the freedom of speech clause is ruled to be paramount and both labor unions and corporations may spend millions upon millions of dollars in political campaigns, individual members of unions as well as individual stockholders of corporations could then file lawsuits under state laws to determine whether this is a proper use of union dues or stockholders' funds and company earnings.

If the courts say the sky is the limit and "free speech" is the only criterion, then the nation may see the beginning of the end of all the efforts by Congress in the last half century to exercise control over the methods used and the money spent in federal elections.

GENERALLY SPEAKING, there would then be no barrier to the buying of elections by an individual or group of individuals with the most money.

Maybe when it is all over, the labor - union bosses will wish they hadn't presented the challenge in 1954 by expending money directly from their treasuries to aid congressional candidates in Michigan.

In past years labor groups, known as Political Action Committees, were organized, but they solicited funds from individuals just as any political organization does. Workers could accept or reject such pleas.

This time the CIO union admits it spent money directly from union coffers and defies the federal government to stop it and argues that any law restricting such spending is unconstitutional.

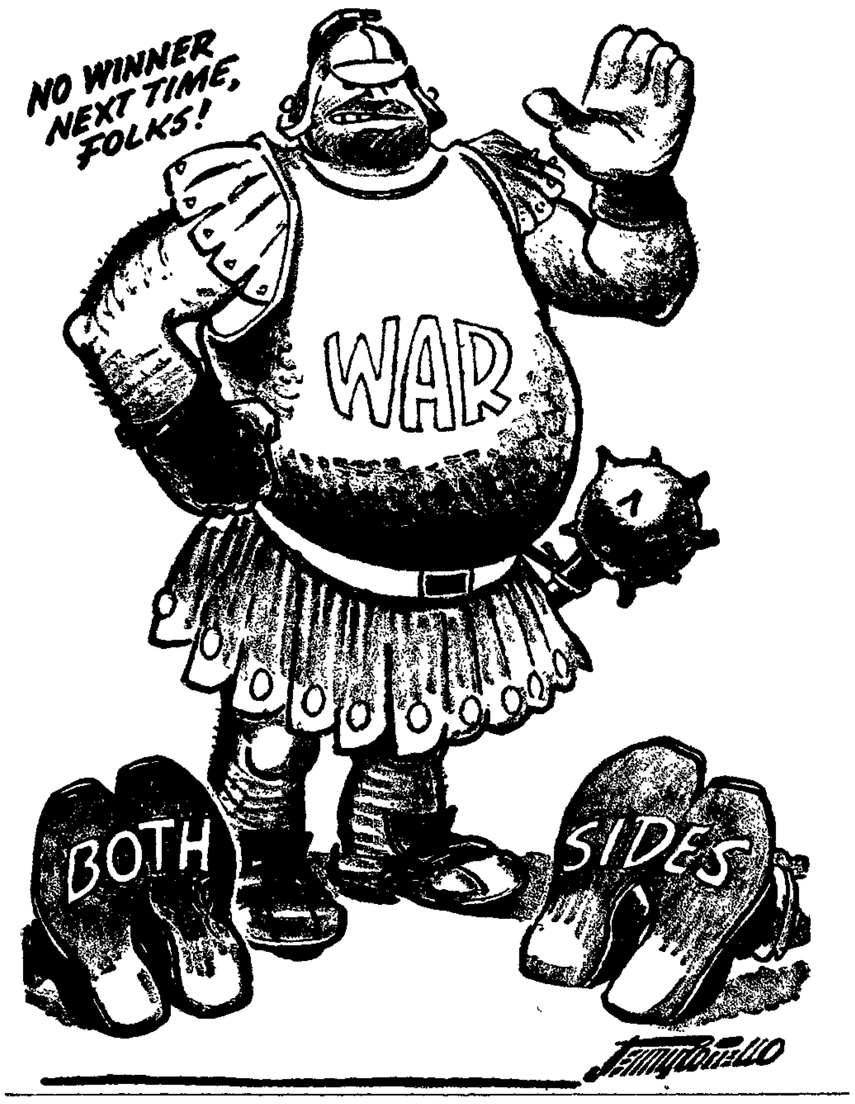
Referee's Pre-Decision



'Nuclear Sickness' Afflicts NATO

By Omer Anderson

BONN

United States military leaders have been shocked to learn that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is confronted by a critical shortage of ammunition.

After five years and billions of dollars in American military aid, the Western defense block, the U.S. authorities have found, could not produce enough conventional ammo to fight a general war for two weeks, unaided by the United States.

In the view of the U.S. military, NATO is suffering "Nuclear Malaise"—the conviction shared by most alliance members that the atomic weapons race between the U.S. and the Soviet Union has put them into the role of spectators in the American camp.

To counteract this "malady," the army is opening a drive to expand conventional ammo production in the western nations, including Siam, by subsidizing the expansion of production facilities.

ALONG WITH THE orders the U.S. is posing to NATO military chieftains, most of whom have a starry eye cocked on guided missiles and intercontinental atomic bomber fleets, this somber question:

"If the Russians attack any or all of NATO with conventional weapons alone, what do we do?"

Strike back with the wonder weapons? This would invite Soviet reprisal with nuclear weapons and mean the obliteration of London, Paris, Hamburg, Frankfort, Athens, Madrid and the rest of the continent's capitals and industrial centers.

In this situation, the U.S. points out, "Massive nuclear retaliation" wouldn't help Western Europe much, lying as it does under the shadow of East-German-based Russian bomber fleets.

The conventional ammunition crisis is universal among continental member of NATO. It encompasses almost all types of ammunition.

The U. S. Army has awarded $30,504,500 to four Italian firms for the production of eight-inch howitzer shells, artillery-shell fuses, 155-millimeter shells and shaped charges.

France was handed contracts totaling $41,730,000 for howitzers and propelling charges and 105-millimeter shells. The Greek Powder And Cartridge Company of Athens received a $10,400,000 order for ammunition and propelling charges, and the Greek government was given $1,029,916 to help finance construction of a TNT plant at Eleusis.

The Turks have been awarded ammunition contracts totaling $2,834,500. Smaller contracts have been given to Spain, Norway, Belgium and other countries.

The U.S. military is beginning to crack down on countries which tend to look on American-financed ammunition production as an updated, export version of the WPA unemployment relief project. A fat ammunition contract was withdrawn from Denmark because the Danes persisted in casually stacking American-financed munitions like beer bottles on an open field protected only by tarpaulins.

ARMY LEADERS here no longer make any effort to conceal their skepticism and distrust of the Air Force's massive retaliation theories of nuclear warfare. These theories make fascinating reading in the slick magazines, in the Army's view, but they are riddled with fallacies.

Army commanders point out that acceptance of Air Force doctrines would result in casting the American fighting forces into a single rigid mould, tailored to fight a single type of warfare—the nuclear "blitz."

The Air Force, army leaders complain, would reduce the ground forces to a sort of military police function, mopping up enemy territory knocked out by nuclear bombing fleets.

This theory, in the Army's view, is becoming more passe every day. It is obvious to military men in Europe that a nuclear stalemate has been reached or soon will be. More and more military men are subscribing to the theory that the nuclear weapons have passed into the category of the nerve gases and bacteriological warfare.

A universal revulsion against the employment of nuclear weapons under almost any circumstance is sweeping Europe. In this climate NATO would be putting itself in an untenable moral position by answering conventional Soviet aggression with nuclear defense. Or at least that is the current thinking of many military men as well as political leaders.

THE AIR FORCES "massive retaliation," as Army commanders point out, would only seal the fate of Europe without necessarily insuring victory.

Other factors influencing Army insistence that NATO buckle down to building up its conventional weapons strength are these:

It will be years before Russia, even theoretically, will be in a position to gamble on the nuclear knockout of the U.S. in a single blow.

Proven Communist tactics of infiltration, subversion and, where necessary, the limited war for limited objectives have paid the Soviets handsome dividends at slight cost.

"In other words, why should the Soviets gamble on their own destruction when they can get other people (non-Russian Communists) to do their fighting for them" as one Army officer phrased it.

The Numbers Game

By TRUMAN TWILL

U. R. Trapt, the family-sized all-American boy, was awakened at 6:15 by his $5.89 electric wakener. U. R. was long past the point where he took seriously that rot about life beginning at 40. He felt 90 at 41.

He put his two feet in his No. 9 slippers, went to his 10x12 kitchen and plugged in the 110-volt coffeepot with the five-cup capacity. He popped two pieces of toast into the three-minute toaster, plunked two eggs into the thermostatically - controlled fry pan set at 340 degrees and counted to 200 while he flexed the muscles in his legs and arms.

With breakfast finished, old man Trapt dressed in his 34 shorts, his 9½ socks, his 14½ shirt with the 33 sleeves, slipped into his 38 suit, walked out to his frisky 88 and was on his way to the mines at 7:23, after brushing his teeth with soap said to contain Special Ingredient 20846.

He held the needle of the speedometer at 50 on Route 111 until he crossed 222, when he slowed down to 25 as suggested by the local authorities.

He checked into the mines at 8:12, punched Card No. 835, smoked a cigaret with 784,000 invisible filters, and began to toss unsolicited mail into File 13. He learned when his long - distance call didn't get through that he had been doing business with Operator 8. He told her she was No. 1 in the Belle System for his money. She made no response.

Before going to lunch he rinsed his mouth with his secret supply of goop containing Secret Special Ingredient 84570. He ordered Lunch No. 3, left a 15 per cent tip for the slavey who flung it before him, and was back in the mines three minutes before the 12:30 deadline.

With a million things to do, he decided to concentrate on three and by quitting time had finished two. He fortified his spirit on the way home with a drench of Tub 96 in a little place called Bar 34 and was playing twosies with the barmaid when the proprietor set him at sixes and sevens.

He called ANtidisestablishmentarianism 6-3082 to tell his other half she could expect him in 15 minutes and was instructed to stop by the shopping center to buy Formula 57 for the dog, Formula 83 for the baby, soap containing KL-210 and then to pick up a pair of No. 10 hosiery denier 15 and some breakfast cereal containing minimum daily requirements of granite and ammonium phosphate — not to exceed .0008 milli-bounces to the ounce.

Also some 33 Way Cold Tablets, a bottle of that stuff containing 17 life-giving ingredients, a can of V-8 vegetable fortifier, a box of paper tissues that have been made stronger five ways.

Some Foto-In-One oil, a roll of FX-237 film, a spool of No. 50 black thread and a pair of No. 14 sox for his half-grown 16-year-old son with the No. 12 feet.

He said in that event he would be home in 45 minutes, because he also intended to fill up the bus with some X-17 gasoline, have the crank case refilled with No. 30 oil containing PU-123 and see about buying a pair of 600:16 tires.

When poor old Trapt finally got home and finished his dinner, he was too bushed to do anything but climb into No. 1 of the twin beds and start counting sheep.

Soviets Gain Self-Confidence

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

The willingness of Russia's new leaders to let an American farm delegation tour the country may not be proof of peaceful intentions. But in permitting it they show more self-confidence than Stalin.

The exchange visitors — Russian farmers in this country and Americans in Russia — have just finished trips which probably would have been impossible so long as Stalin lived.

The Iron Curtain he pulled down against foreign travel in Russia had its basis in his character and his ideology, including perhaps a pathological self-consciousness and inferiority.

A FEAR THAT the progress made by communism under him would appear shabby and retarded to Westerners who examined it first hand might well explain some of the isolation he forced on Russia. The worse it looked, the worse he looked.

When his extroverted successors switched to a more peaceful line than Stalin's, some wishful thinkers in this country put the usual extremist interpretation on their moves.

The Russians had to have peace, they said, because their agriculture was near collapse.

It would have been less wishful, and less dramatic, to guess that the switch was only a change in tactics or that perhaps the Russians decided peace was really better than the annihilation they faced if war broke out.

AS IF IN PROOF that they didn't have to conceal their farm production, the Russians let the American farm delegation visit the country and see the situation first hand.

Nothing that delegation has said so far indicates an impending Russian farm disaster. Russian farm techniques and production per acre lag behind America's.

But Lauren K. Soth, the editorial page editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune who suggested and joined in the farm delegation exchange, said at the end of his trip: "Soviet agriculture is certainly not on the verge of collapse."

Other members of the delegation said they saw no signs of people going hungry or likely to in the near future.

They said the Russians' diet was heavy in bread and potatoes, they needed more cattle and more machinery on the farms, and they are taking big steps to improve their farm program.

The Russian delegation to the United States had little to say, as might be expected, since they will be answerable when they return home for any statements made here.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Yachting Season

The boating season is at a peak and never have so many been so much at sea with so few ideas of their whereabouts. The appeal of yachting rests in the two simple words "Get lost." More people own boats than ever before. The two-boat family is no rarity.

The rush to get away from land traffic is creating water traffic of serious proportions. Many a harbor needs traffic lights. The Yacht Club, for generations a place to "go and get away from it all" has become as hectic as a subway station. Once upon a time only the rich had yachts, but today many a man runs a motor-sailor on Social Security.

THE URGE TO GO SOME PLACE where there are no dead-end streets, tunnel tie-ups, traffic cops and police whistles is tremendous. The yachtsman may not go far but he goes without dust, cinders, road-blocks and curses from fellow travelers.

He may not know where he is going and get lost on his way home, but he has no parking problems.

Even if he has lost his chart and can't read a compass, he can keep cool, shake up another cocktail easily and feel sure that, no matter what happens, there will be no sounds of crashing bumpers and cries of "Where did you learn to drive?"

-:-

A YACHT IS MORE expensive than an auto, but it gives you more promise of keeping your health. It is more trouble to maintain and operate, but it affords the privilege of wearing a white cap without being mistaken for the Good Humor vendor. (A yachting cap is in fact one of the prize attractions of boat owning. If you put on a funny costume to drive an auto you can get arrested for blocking traffic, but on the water or at the dock it is considered perfectly okay to look comical.)

-:-

(WE STILL OPPOSE naming hurricanes after the ladies . . . Generally speaking they are fairly docile, soft-voiced and not violent except with proper excuses . . . The only gal named Connie in our neighborhood is a frail, shy, retiring person who raises pansies, likes to get up flower-arrangements and would be horrified at the thought of knocking over a house or dock.

There is a Diane in our set, but she plays the harp, collects butterflies and wouldn't sink a yacht or batter a seawall, even for prize money.

Running across scenes of boyhood enterprises gives us a kick and we have found in a charming restaurant, Villa Rosa, operated by Tom Nolan on the Connecticut shore the very spot where, as a kid of 12, we took one of our first jobs . . . The site was then a trolley-station, hard by a hotel called the Sound View, and, run, believe it or not, by a man named Napoleon Fortier . . . Our job was "minding" a cigar and candy stand and out of the past comes a memory of being warned by William Vincent Griffin, now a Wall Street millionaire, but then a department store clerk on vacation, that we were giving back too much change.

Reports to Ike on Parley

Strauss Says U.S. Leads Atoms-for-Peace Work

By JOHN JAMESON

DENVER (AP) — The atoms-for-peace conference in Geneva "enormously assisted the cause of peace" and President Eisenhower is hopeful there will be another such meeting, Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said Monday.

Strauss, in Denver to report to the President of the just-concluded meeting, told Eisenhower that out of the conference came indications "that the United States is clearly ahead" of Russia in development of atomic power for peaceful use.

'No Time To Rest'

The AEC chairman, who headed the U.S. delegation at the meeting of scientists from 67 nations, observed that the Geneva session was "not an atomic Olympic Games contest" and cautioned that while the United States is ahead now, "we cannot rest on our oars."

The President said he was pleased with the results of the conference, which grew out of a speech he made Dec. 8, 1953, suggesting an atoms-for-peace movement.

The most important development of the meeting, in his opinion, Strauss told a news conference, is that it was determined that "it is possible for scientists to communicate regarding the peaceful aspects of atomic energy without violating security" as far as atomic weapons are concerned.

Weapons Not Discussed

However, he emphasized, there was no discussion of nuclear weapons at the sessions.

"The Geneva conference has solidly lined up scientists of the world behind the President's peace program," Strauss said.

Strauss, who flew from Switzerland to report to Eisenhower, was high in his praise of the Russian scientists.

He said they were friendly — "just like our fellows."

He said the Russians paid frequent tribute to President Eisenhower and "if there was any skepticism about the atoms-for-peace movement, this conference ended that. On all sides the United States won much merit for initiating the conference."

Nothing occurred at Geneva to cause the United States either to speed up or slow down its atomic development program, he said.

Two Marion Residents Pass Bar Examinations

They were a part of a group of 590 applicants who took the examinations in Columbus June 28-30. Of that number 245 failed, and announcement of the result of two examinations was withheld.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court will administer the oath of office of attorney and counselor at law to the successful applicants in Columbus on Aug. 31, in Cincinnati on Sept. 1 and in Cleveland on Sept. 2.
